Coal Will Vanish
Our Insect Victory
Two Revolutions
Strange Things in France

—By Arthur Brisbane—

Copyright, 1920.

This may be a smoky world one hundred and fifty years hence, for then, according to the Mine Inspectors' Institute, the hard coal will all be gone. There is enough soft coal, however, to last six thousand years more.

Heat and power will never fail as long as the sun goes on as at present. Ten thousand years from now people will know how to use the sun's heat direct and will, perhaps, know enough not to let any individual or group monopolize and peddle it out.

Grasshoppers have invaded a town in Michigan, swarming through city streets, doing a million dollars' worth of damage to nearby crops. You read and pass on to the next column. The grasshoppers now are not important, but in the old days they were.

Their arrival meant terror, their departure famine. The Bible tells much about them and allows you to eat them, as the North American Indians used to do. Pounded into a paste they are not disagreeable, if you don't know what they are.

The world has escaped or outlived many dangers, leprosy, the black death, cannibalism. We often forget that man's most important victory is his conquest of the insect world.

With their vitality a thousand times greater and their power of breeding a million times greater than in man and the other vertebrates, the insects might have been world rulers had not eternal wisdom planned it otherwise. Michigan grasshoppers remind us to be grateful. Pound for pound, an ant is worth a hundred men in strength, industry, vitality, devotion to the public welfare. Be grateful that the insects are small.

Yesterday the world, as much of it as is semi-civilized, celebrated the capture of the Bastille by France. It meant the burial of royalty, ownership of the soil of France by six million peasants in place of its ownership by a few thousand nobles. It meant many unpleasant things, including heads dropping into baskets half-filled with sawdust on the far side of the guillotine blade.

The French Revolution was a hideous, necessary surgical operation. For fifty years after it happened no man could write about it fairly or see it as it really was.

One detail of the French Revolution was the killing of the King and his wife. He was a well-meaning weakling; she, a scheming, foolish butterfly.

What exact difference do you see between that French Revolution, acclaimed by the whole world yesterday, and the Russian revolution, denounced today by ninety per cent. of civilization, officially at least? Time and success make even revolutions respectable.

Little people wonder why they pay so much government expenses, even with a heavy tax on big incomes.

How many know that there are outstanding fifteen billions of dollars' worth of securities, municipal bonds, etc., upon which the national government collects no income tax at all? Men with a great deal of money, of course, invest in those tax-free securities and go their way rejoicing.

The Labor-Farmer-Uplift Third Party talk is not taken seriously by those accustomed to control the United States by controlling both the big parties.

In England it is otherwise. Tories and Liberals see in the Labor Party the coming government of the British empire, and no man can see what changes that may bring about in the world. With British labor on strike against sending soldiers to coerce Ireland, what would a British Labor government do when it came to coercing the various ends of the earth under British control—that is, the brown and yellow regions? In the white regions, outside of Ireland, England displays tact, ceasing but not trying to "drive" white men.

You see English tact in the fact that the English-Japanese alliance has been allowed to lapse.

It was a good alliance for England, but Canada is more important to England than Japan; so is Australia. Australia, with five million inhabitants, has room for one hundred millions. Asia would gladly supply the other ninety-five millions. Australia won't have it.

On your map you see the little empire of Japan hanging like a dark cloud on the globe directly north of big Australia, with England far off to the northeast.

England must tread softly in any Japanese alliance when her two great white colonies, Australia and Canada, firmly decline to admit that Japanese are folks or in any way acceptable as fellow citizens.

In France, when a man is caught profiteering, conspiring to increase the price of food, they put him in jail for a while, fine him a substantial sum of money and make him pay the cost of advertising his own sentence in a dozen leading newspapers, besides keeping his sentence posted up outside of his place of business for an entire year.

This country would never think of doing that; it would "interfere with business."

CARMEN IN CHICAGO STRIKE

Every Surface Line in City Tied Up; One Dead, 10 Hurt in Accident

Chicago, July 15.—A full-fledged street car strike hit Chicago without warning today, tying up every surface line in the city and bringing chaos to the city's industries.

An eighteen-year-old girl was killed and ten persons were injured in accidents due to the strike. The fatal accident occurred when a heavy motor truck jammed with passengers crashed into a trolley pole while going towards the loop district, overturning and hurling its occupants to the pavement.

The girl was so badly crushed that she died on the way to a hospital. Seven other passengers were crushed and bruised. Two men and a woman were injured when a "jitney" bus in which they were riding to work was overturned.

The strike was the result of the failure of officials of the company and representatives of the maintenance of service employes to agree on a new wage scale.

Although the motormen and conductors were at their posts early this morning to take their cars from the barns, the walkout of maintenance men resulted in a shut-off of elec-

FOUND DEAD OF BULLET WOUND

Salem Man a Suicide, Says Atwood; the Police Are Not Convinced

The body of a man with a bullet hole in the head was found today in the freight yards at Salem, under conditions which caused the police to start an investigation. Medical Examiner Atwood declared the man to be a suicide. The police were not convinced. A pistol was found under the victim's coat, with two chambers empty.

The body was identified by Mrs. Amy Chrunia of No. 9 Curtis street, Salem, as that of her lodger, M. Justkolks, aged thirty-three years, who was employed by the General Electric Company at Lynn. She said he left her house last night, apparently in good health.

The body was discovered by Frank King, a switchman, on his way to work. It lay with the head near the rails. A 22-calibre pistol, from which two shots had been fired, was lying on the body.

DEFENDER RESOLUTE BETTING CHOICE

Defender Two to One Favorite Over Shamrock IV in First Battle

Washington, July 15.—"Winds, mostly southwest and west and moderate, this afternoon; unsettled, thunder showers probable," is the weather predicted for the international yacht race in a special forecast issued this morning by the United States Weather Bureau. . . .

By International News Service.

Aboard U. S. S. Goldsborough, off Sandy Hook, July 15.—Brave memories and age-old traditions of yachting history that have been dormant for seventeen years were revived today as the Resolute and Shamrock IV. started in the first of their series of races for the America's cup.

The Resolute went into the series today favorite in the betting at varying odds. A number of bets were recorded in Wall Street at 2 to 1. Three to two were the prevailing odds.

The very pulse of the whirling old world beat a trifle faster in anticipation of a contest that ever has been surrounded by romance, and echoes of the widespread interest in the races came from all parts of the globe.

LIPTON'S FOURTH ATTEMPT.

The old salt and the landlubber alike awaits the outcome of today's race and those to follow with genuine interest, and why? Because of the irresistible lure of the sea and the lustre of marine tradition; because the whole world loves a sportsmanlike contest and because hoary-headed Sir Thomas Lipton, thrice defeated in competition, but never beaten in spirit, is making his fourth attempt to lift the historic cup.

Seventy years ago the schooner

(Copyright, 1920, Geo. Bernard Shaw.)

The Supreme Council, we are told by Lloyd George, has, after fifteen months' deliberation, decided that it is desirable to trade with Russia under certain conditions.

Dail Eireann, whatever its shortcomings, has at least intelligence enough to be able to reach concerns of the elementary sort without any conditions at all in fifteen minutes, if not in fifteen seconds.

Yet Mr. Krassin, the Soviet envoy, a man of distinguished capacity, on being asked point-blank whether he found the statesmen of England peodles, replied (though without expressing surprise at the question) that he thought they knew pretty well what they wanted, and were open to reason as to how to get it, whereas the French statesmen not only wanted to eat their own cake and have it too, both in Russia and Germany, but could not be brought to see the fact that there is at present no cake.

PREDICT DROP OF $1 A BARREL IN FLOUR

The first break in the high cost of living was forecasted today when Boston flour merchants predicted a drop in flour of $1 a barrel. Flour men based their predictions on the price of wheat in the first trading in wheat futures on the Chicago market since the beginning of the war. Prices fell from 20 to 25 cents a bushel from the quotations in the cash markets of Kansas City, Minneapolis and other wheat centres.

Four Shots Fired; Police Seek Victim

Police of Somerville were busy today in the so-called "brick bottom" district, near the Cambridge line, trying to solve the mystery of the four shots discharged in the morning in Bedford street, near South street.

Neighbors reported that at 1 o'clock they heard sounds of wrangling, and looking out saw four men. Suddenly there was a shot, followed by three more. Then all was still. One of the neighbors told the police he was sure one man was hit. No surgeon in the district and no hospital for miles around, the police said, has any knowledge of the supposed victim.

The place where the quarrel and shooting took place is in the centre of a district occupied almost exclusively by Italians. It is not impossible, the police say, that an injured man is being concealed in some private house.

RESOLUTE AND SHAMROCK IV. RACE FOR THE AMERICA'S CUP

BETTING ODDS ARE TWO TO ONE ON THE DEFENDER

yacht America won the famous cup in a race around the Isle of Wight. Twelve times since then English, Irish and Canadian yachtsmen have tried to win it away from this country. And this is the thirteenth attempt. Weather-beaten old shellbacks along the beach at Sandy Hook, some of whom have seen as many as five cup contests, point to this, the 13th, and wag their heads knowingly.

You can't make an old sea dog shine up to thirteen. He "reckons it's a hoodoo that's liable tow upset things considerable," and he will not be surprised to see the old order of things reversed—to see Shamrock IV. jib and tack her way to victory.

WEATHER MEANS MUCH.

But one and all among men of the sea agreed that the weather will have much to do with deciding the issue and there were indications today that the sloops might experience plenty of weather.

Moderate to fresh winds mostly southwest and westerly with unsettled weather and probable thundershowers was the official forecast for today. Early this morning the weather was threatening.

Shortly before 8 o'clock the sun appeared and the indications at that hour were that the weather might clear up.

Heavy weather, according to the consensus of opinion among the experts, will be favorable to the Shamrock. Mild weather and light breezes, they say, will make the defender behave winningly.

Weather notwithstanding, the first race will be sailed today if possible, starting at 1 o'clock New York daylight saving time or 11 o'clock Eastern Standard time. The series is for the best three in five races and the races all will be sailed over a course of thirty miles.

Today's race was scheduled to be a windward and leeward race, fifteen miles out and fifteen miles back.

On Saturday the sloops will sail over a triangular course, ten miles to a leg, and the following races will alternate as to the course in the order started today.

MAY REQUEST DELAY.

If more than three races are necessary the yachts will sail the remaining races on successive days unless one yacht requests a delay.

The race committee of the New York Yacht Club will determine the course according to weather conditions each day. The marks will be set by the tug Joe Morse, commanded by Captain Louis Blix.

Prior to starting the rivals will jockey about near the start for position. Fifteen minutes before the hour for starting a preparatory signal will be given by the vessel carrying the race committee. Ten minutes later the yachts will be warned to make ready and five minutes thereafter will come the signal to cross the line.

The waters around Sandy Hook today were crowded with craft of all descriptions. The fleecy palaces of financial kings rubbed rails, so to speak, with fussy, begrimed, little tugs.

HUNDREDS OF SPECTATORS.

There were steam yachts, steam and gas launches, sailing craft, pleasure steamships, noisy, chugging motor boats of all shapes and sizes and a number of the smaller type of trans-Atlantic liners, pressed into service temporarily to take spectators to the races. The Orizaba, for instance, carried passengers at $25 a head for the one race. Some few other steamships provided transportation ranging from $10 to $50.

On Atlantic Highlands, which overlooks Sandy Hook and from where one can gate fifteen to twenty miles out to sea on a clear day, hundreds of spectators gathered for today's race. The beaches at Coney Island, Far Rockaway and Long Beach were generously dotted with humanity. Everyone who could possibly get near the scene of the cup contest was on hand.

Lipton Still Confident Despite Unexpected Handicap

New York, July 15.—Standing on the deck of his steam yacht, Victoria, Sir Thomas Lipton stroked his abbreviated goatee and announced that he would "station a man with strong binoculars on the stern of the Shamrock IV. to keep tabs on the fair Atlantic Resolute during the race today."

The remark was made in a spirit of jest, and before the official handicap of 7 minutes and 15 seconds had been announced. The British knight of the deep had been confidently expecting the allowance would not be more than 6 minutes and a quarter, but he exhibited his indomitable spirit of gameness even after the unexpected announcement had been made and ordered the hundreds of good luck tokens sent him by admirers to be taken board the Shamrock IV.

"They haven't been measured, but I don't think they'll add to the 15 minutes allowance," Sir Thomas declared.

HEAVY LOAD FOR CHALLENGER

Lipton Party Anxious Over Handicap, Declares Expert Colcord

By LINCOLN COLCORD,
International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Navesink, Highland Light, N. J., July 15.—The day of the first race of the third attempt to lift the cup America's cup dawned mistily, but with the promise of clearing. The mild thunder storm during the night cleared the air somewhat.

The sun began a gallant battle to clear away the light fog early in the morning to the intense gratification of the yachting enthusiasts.

Indications were that the wind, the all-important factor, probably would be from the west. Early in the morning it still was pulling up the coast from the southward, left over from the strong southerly of yesterday. This is a sign that the storm of last evening, which was merely a brief squall with a flurry of rain, was not heavy enough to bring about a complete shift of weather.

Under these circumstances it is possible that the southwesterly wind may pick up again and blow all day. This would be almost certain to produce another thunderstorm in the afternoon.

THE DAY OF BATTLE.

At dawn signs of activity were apparent on the decks of the two racers lying inside the bight of Sandy Hook. Their time of waiting was over, the day of the battle had come. Very early a launch began scurrying back and forth between the Victoria, flagship of Sir Thomas Lipton's little fleet, and the dark-bodied challenger, with her towering spars.

The time allowance handicap officially announced this morning at 7 minutes and 15 seconds bids fair to be a heart-breaking load for the challenger to carry.

Members of the Lipton party yesterday afternoon did not conceal their anxiety at rumors of 7½ and 8 minutes which had drifted down the bay from New York Yacht Club sources. But while the official figures this morning are not so bad as yesterday's advance reports, they are bad enough from the point of view of the challenger. The hardest possible task for a boat is to drive out a load sufficient to overcome a heavy handicap.

BURTON TACITURN.

Captain Will P. Burton was taciturn as ever, but announced that she planned to use a smaller club topsail than the one entered in the original measurements, which would cut 15 seconds from his time allowance. But that will be only a drop in the bucket.

Yachtsmen are agog to see what new "wrinkles" the challenger will disclose in the way of sails or rigging. When Captain Nicholson, designer of the Shamrock, brought out his "weather leach strip" in the spin off Sandy Hook two days ago, it created a sensation. At that time he said that it would be used in the races and promised two or three more surprises.

The "weather leach strip" consists of a strip of canvas running up along the mast between the weather leach of the mainsail and the mast itself. Its purpose is to fill up the six-inch space that always goes to waste between the sail and mast and to stop as much as possible the spilling of wind which goes on in that area, which is more important than the malginficant gain in small area.

Captain Nicholson is confident that the "wrinkle" adds noticeably to the speed of the big challenger and those who saw her tuning up off the hook on Tuesday say that something at any rate seemed to make her sail with new drive and power.

Resolute, lying closer to the nose of the hook than the Lipton fleet, also was awake at dawn preparing for the great contest in which she is to defend the record of seventy years of American yachting. The lean white racer was put in final trim.

Thousands of workers waited in vain at street corners for transportation.

Owing to the suddenness of the strike not even the improvised motor truck "express" which has been used in transportation strikes of the past, were available.

Work in business offices and factories was temporarily suspended early in the day because of the failure of the workers to report.

The elevated lines and steam suburban service were in operation but were taxed beyond their capacity to handle the crowds.

BARNEY'S STORY BREAKS 'RING'

Sensational Expose of Auto Thefts Implicates Many Bay State Men

State Prison and also with relation to the automobile stealing industry in so far as he was connected with it from the date of his discharge from an institution in New York until the night of the shooting of Patrolman Charles E. Deininger. He spared nobody in his recital.

As a result it is believed that at the next session of the grand jury, with Barney and Albert Pfaeff, a contented automobile dealer, in the role of story-tellers, some sensational developments will result. Pfaeff, who has been an inmate at Charlestown for about a year, has already told his story on different times to the officials of both Middlesex and Suffolk Counties.

With Barney's corroboration and one or two additional means of securing evidence at their disposal, the prosecuting officers believe it will be possible to clean up an especially sore spot in crime. It is with the purpose of securing corroboration of Barney's tale that investigators were busy today.

TOLD NAMES OF RECEIVERS.

Barney not only told the names of the men to whom he sold cars, but added to his interview the list of machines stolen and the places where they were taken. He has told everything possible with relation to the transactions in question. He has even told, to the best of his knowledge, the names of the men and their places of abode who bought the machines from the seller. And some of these latter, it is claimed, are as guilty as the actual thief or receivers.

"We feel," said an investigator today," that with Barney's story before us we can make a decided move against men who traffic in stolen cars. It has long been the opinion that if we succeeded in getting the unscrupulous men who bought these cars from the young thieves if would be possible to break up the thieving altogether.

What a market at which Barney might dispose of cars he wouldn't have to steal and Patrolman Deininger would be alive today. I am confident that at last the way is opened to stamp out this illicit trafc. We are making progress and it only remains to have the grand jurors hear the story to bring about the desired results."

Barney spent more than an hour telling his story yesterday. He was quizzed from time to time by those who were in the hearing room. He suffered considerable pain as a result of his illness, and on that account his questioners went a trifle easier than might otherwise have been the case.

TWO MEN ARE QUESTIONED.

One direct result of Barney's story of yesterday was the appearance at District Attorney Tufts' office in East Cambridge of two men whose names have been freely used in connection with the thefts of automobiles. One of them was at one time a member of the Boston police department, but resigned in the face of difficulty.

It is assumed that Tufts had them there to question them regarding some of the story told yesterday by Barney. Both men have at one time or another been quizzed as a result of bits of information which have been revealed regarding them and their connection with alleged automobile thievery.

Barney opened his story with all the facts connected with his escape from the Charlestown State prison. He refused to tell any of his questioners who the people were who aided him at any time during his flight. He insisted that he thrust himself upon these people and that they were in no wise criminally responsible for his presence or for his being with them.

ELWELL SPENT MONEY ON 'FLAMES' WHILE WIFE WENT HUNGRY

DETECTIVES HIRED BY TURFMAN

Elwell Tried to Trap His Wife, Says Mrs. Kane, Former Servant

By DENIS O'CONNELL.

Copyright, 1920, By Universal Service.

Newry, County Down, Ireland, July 15.—"There were no servants in Elwell's home at night (tips)," said Mrs. Annie Kane, former housekeeper of Joseph B. Elwell, the murdered turfman and whist authority of New York, in a new exclusive interview with me today.

"One night I forgot the keys to my own home. I returned to the Elwell house and let myself in, sipped into the kitchen, and found Elwell with my cap and apron on, frying bacon and eggs for himself and four lady friends and two gentlemen who had returned with him from the theater. It was about 11 o'clock.

"Elwell was all excited when he saw me. He tried to slip off the apron and cap and asked me what I wanted. I said I wanted the keys and told him where they were, and he got them for me."

GAVE GIRL MONEY.

Mrs. Kane told of other incidents observed by her in her long service with Elwell. She mentioned the name of another woman friend of the murdered man—a girl from Brooklyn—to whom he gave money.

The former housekeeper smiled broadly at the reported assertion of a young woman that she was merely a casual acquaintance of Elwell. Mrs. Kane went on:

"The way Elwell treated his wife was pitiful.

"While he squandered money on other women he turned down his wife when she told him how difficult it was to make both ends meet. She asked his assistance and some money to enable her to open up a business for herself, but Elwell just glanced over the letter and threw it into a drawer. The way he treated his wife got the servants more or less against him. Many times we were inclined to ring up Mrs. Elwell and tell her to come over and take charge of the home.

"Mr. Elwell never wanted his own people near him. I remember how his father used to write him, appealing to send funds to his wife and saying the allowance was long overdue and she was in bad straits.

"I told Mrs. Kane that one of the women she mentioned had denied the statements concerning her friendship with Elwell made by Mrs. Kane in her now famous affidavit, obtained by the Universal Service staff correspondent. Mrs. Kane replied to the denial thus:

"This young woman came with her elder sister to Mr. Elwell's Palm Beach home, and was entertained there as other society people were."

Concerning the visit of the women to the Elwell house, Mrs. Kane said that Elwell came to her one day and said:

"Annie, haven't you got a place to go to today?"

"I was surprised at this and said, 'no.' It was a Sunday morning.

"'Well,' he said, 'I've got some friends upstairs. I don't want them to be disturbed before 6 or 7 this evening.' I took some hours off and returned about 4 o'clock, believing Mr. Elwell's friends were still there. But they had gone. I found a note in Elwell's handwriting. It said:

CALLED HIM "DARLING."

"——— And———

"'I hope you had as good a time as I had.'

"On the door leading off from Mr. Elwell's own sleeping room—that was down stairs—I found a note pinned, which read:

"'De, you old darling. I will see you later or call you up. Thanks for your hospitality.'

"On the following day Elwell came downstairs and spoke of Miss ———. It was one of the few names he mentioned to me.

"One morning I came in early and saw a woman coming downstairs. I slipped into a room and saw her fix her hat in front of a mirror. I saw she was a society woman. There was no mistake about that.

"Thank God, there was no Irish-woman among Elwell's lot. They were mostly Germans or had German sounding names.

"Especially, there was one of Brooklyn. She used to get a check for $50 at a time from him.

"Elwell employed a detective agency to watch his wife. The men trailed her for a long time, but she is a good woman and they could get anything on her.

"Mr. Elwell was dissatisfied at this, and when the Burns people sent him the bill he entered into a long controversy with them and refused to pay it, saying the men hadn't earned the money. He kept duplicates of the settlement he sent them and later destroyed some of them, but eventually, I believe, the Burns people filed suit against him, and he settled, as far as I know."

Mrs. Nelson to Renew Fight for Child

Mrs. Eva G. Nelson, who lost control of her five-year-old daughter after a divorce trial. The legal contest is to be resumed.

Another legal battle for custody of five-year-old Nancy Nelson is to be staged in the Middlesex Superior Court at East Cambridge.

The mother, Mrs. Eva Guptill Nelson of Brookline, who lost the custody of the child last March when her husband, Ernest E. Nelson of Winchester, secured a divorce following a sensational trial, has asked that the whole case be reopened. Her attorney, Walter I. Badger, today filed three petitions in East Cambridge court with that end in view.

ACCUSES HUSBAND.

In the first petition, Mrs. Nelson, through her counsel, asks that her husband's divorce decree shall not become absolute in September. She objects, alleging that her husband has been guilty of misconduct with numerous women since the divorce trial last March.

Mrs. Nelson also asks that the decree giving full custody of Nancy to the father be vacated and in a third petitions that it be modified so that she may secure partial custody of her daughter. It is expected that the real fight will come over possession of the child as Mrs. Nelson has grieved since the divorce trial over the latter's daughter's companionship. She claims that the father denied her the privilege of taking the child to a circus since the trial ended.

The father has permitted his wife to have the child once a week during the day time.

The big fight is expected when the petition is heard, as few divorce proceedings have been fought with such bitterness as the original divorce trials of the Nelsons before Judge Sanderson had the case.

Attorney Henry F. Hurlburt, counsel for Mr. Nelson, was especially active in his last arraignment of both Mrs. Nelson and her lawyer, Mr. Badger.

SEVERELY CONDEMNED.

Seldom has a woman been excoriated in a Massachusetts court as Mrs. Nelson was during Mr. Hurlburt's argument.

Judge Sanderson granted Nelson a divorce on the charge of infidelity. James B. Green of New York being named. During her cross-examination Mrs. Nelson admitted that Green remained in a hotel apartment with her over a week-end.

TOLD OF ENGAGEMENT.

Another bit of testimony by Mrs. Nelson was that while married she became conditionally engaged to Osro M. Scoville, a Boston broker, who also was married. She admitted that last Christmas eve Scoville proposed marriage when both were free and that she accepted him. A few weks later Scoville's wife secured a divorce.

Mrs. Nelson declared that she "liked" Harry" Green, but that she loved Scoville. The latter sat in the court-room throughout Mrs. Nelson's testimony.

Nelson, who was one of the fastest runners who ever competed under the B. A. colors, was charged with associating with Spanish dancing girls while on a trip to Cuba during his service in the Naval Reserve.

The couple were sentenced to six months in jail and fined $100 each, but the sentence was suspended. Edwards was given a second $100 fine and six months sentence on the charge of possession, but was placed on probation on that charge.

Widow of Murderer and Suicide Claims Victim Refused to Aid Reconciliation

New London, Ct., July 15.—Two pictures of Mrs. Arthur E. De Cordova, beautiful wife of a New York broker, were found in the watch of Bernard B. Geissler, the chauffeur who shot and killed Mrs. De Cordova and then committed suicide, according to his wife, who has arrived here.

The young widow declared that when she and her husband had quarrelled she went to Mrs. De Cordova to ask her influence in effecting a reconciliation and that Mrs. De Cordova appeared indifferent to her entreaties.

Mrs. Geissler denied that she had any suspicions of an "affair" between her husband and Mrs. De Cordova, she added, however:

"You know 'Silence is consent' and 'A guilty conscience needs no accuser.' Also, 'Still water runs deep.' From these three old sayings you may get your answer."

De Cordova Says Wife's Murderer Was Insane

New York, July 15.—"Geissler was a religious fanatic — a paranoiac," said Arthur De Cordova, husband of the woman found murdered in a lonely road in Connecticut on Monday.

The New York broker spoke for the first time, saying police theory that the double tragedy was caused by Geissler's unrequited love for Mrs. De Cordova. De Cordova said he believes the murder was committed while Geissler suffered a mental affliction under the stimulus of whiskey.

Geissler, he said, was very devoted to the family. "His attitude to my wife," De Cordova said, "were always that of a well-bred servant. I am positive Geissler was mentally unbalanced. Three weeks ago I ordered him to bring me tea at 6 o'clock Sunday morning and he was late. He excused this on the ground that he 'went to bed early.'

"I have positive proof that Geissler was morbid and morose on the two days preceding the tragedy. I have learned that the chauffeurs of Manager Judkins of the Thames River Yacht Club at Groton Point and a Mr. Lo Compte, a New York business man, commented on Geissler's attitude. He seemed down-hearted and brooding, these men told their employers. He frequently quarrelled with friends on religious topics."

WOMEN PRAISE THIRD PARTY

Mrs. Stevens Charges Citizenship Classes Are Used for Political Purposes

Women representing all walks of life advocated a third party at a meeting held at No. 100 Boylston street, under the auspices of the Patriot Dames. This organization voted to send to the convention of the third party a series of resolutions setting forth the need of such an organization to correct the evils of the other two parties.

Among those who took part in the discussion were Mrs. Mary Nicholson, Miss Mary Corbett, Miss Elisa Sweeney, Miss Annie Carney and Miss Hattie Abrahams.

In speaking of the third party Mrs. S. Evans Stevens praised William Randolph Hearst for showing the need of such a body. She urged the women to stand by it when it was thoroughly launched.

"What upsets me is to see women in this city instructing other women in citizenship and then secretly urging them to vote the Republican ticket. Women should be warned against these camouflaged citizenship classes for women.

"There's nothing to do with the old parties. They are moth eaten with corruption and corroding with an ugly past history.

"We need a new party, one that will stand for Federal and State inspection of institutions; for trial by jury before any woman can be put into an insane asylum hospital to please a husband who has outgrown her affection; pensions for every mother, and labor laws that will protect the children.

"We are living in a new age, and we women can do so much if we do not allow ourselves to fall into the political ruts where men have trodden so long."

TELEPHONE UNIONS MAY QUIT PARENT BODY

All officers of telephone men's local unions in New England affiliated with the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers have been suspended by International President Frank Kosmo because of their request for a separate charter for an independent International. Action will be taken Friday night on the question of withdrawing the entire membership from the international body. Local officers say they are constitutionally entitled to the charter by vote of the majority of members.

DEMOCRATIZE AMERICA, SAYS PROFESSOR SHARP

Amherst, July 15.—"Our whole national life evolves out of our lower schools," Dallas Lore Sharp, professor of English in Boston University, told members of the Summer school of the Massachusetts Agricultural college. 'Fitz' Removed to His Hull Summer Home

Feeling "hully," former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald is now at his Summer home in Hull, recuperating from the recent operation performed for injuries sustained when an automobile truck crushed his legs on July 5.

He was removed from the Carney Hospital and motored over the road to his beach residence, standing the trip without discomfort.

He expressed his pleasure at being back at his home and declared he was feeling much better. His physicians, Drs. Bottomley and Sturgis, said he was doing well and had taken his confinement cheerfully.

MOVE GARBAGE IN WATERTOWN

Authorities Furnish Men for Contractor, Following Indignation Meeting

As a result of a breakdown of the garbage collection system in Watertown the work was begun on a new plan today, under the direction of the Board of Health. The change followed a series of indignation meetings of citizens.

Jacques Margoulieff of Lexington, who has the collection contract, will continue to have it, but will be furnished men as far as possible by the town authorities.

Town officials admit they cannot get anybody else to take the job, owing to the demand for high wages. For two weeks there have been scarcely any collections of garbage. Barrels have stood untouched in some sections, while in others households are have buried the refuse.

CROWD SMILES AS TWO DROWN

Believed Fitchburg Men Were Joking; Boy and Girl Also Die in Water

Among the four persons drowned in Massachusetts during the past twenty-four hours, two went to their death in Snow Mill pond at Fitchburg as fellow workers looked on, believing their cries for help was a joke to induce them to jump to their rescue fully clothed.

The victims were Edouard Le Blanc, aged 24, of No. 65 Clarendon street, Fitchburg, and Gilbert Arsenault, aged 25, of No. 167 Fairmont street. The latter tried to rescue his companion when the former went in over his head. Both sank out of sight.

WATCHES MEN DROWN.

The crowd smiled as the men continued their cousts for help until they went down for good, when the full force of the tragedy struck. Belated attempts were made to rescue the men but they were dead when taken from the water.

In Pittsfield the victim was Helen Larkin, aged 14, of No. 51 Longfellow avenue. Margaret Palasco, her 12-year-old playmate, going to the rescue of her friend, was drowned, who fell off a log on which she had been paddling in Madison Pond, sank exhausted within a few feet of her drowning chum.

FAIL TO SAVE GIRL'S LIFE.

Anthony Maxwell, attracted by the screams, dived in and rescued Margaret Palasco. Attempts to revive the Larkin girl with a pulmotor after her body was recovered in a search that took 45 minutes, failed.

In Readville the victim was Dominic Guiste, aged 14, of No. 14 River street, East Dedham. Young Dominic was learning to swim in Cotton Mill Pond with the use of water wings. The wings got away from him and he was drowned. A younger brother, discovering the boy's clothing, notified his parents. The police dragged the pond for several hours before the body was recovered.

CHRISTENSEN NOMINATED BY NEW THIRD PARTY

After a stormy all-night convention Harley Parker Christensen, a Salt Lake City attorney, was nominated for the Presidency by the freshly named party, and Max Hayes, a Cleveland labor leader, was named as his running mate.

Christensen is a former Republican and Progressive and was a delegate to the Forty-Eighter. For several years he was secretary of the Republican State Committee of Utah.

The ticket was completed about daylight in what was practically a labor convention. Most of the Committee of Forty-Eight delegates who marched on Bitbelly into a coalition on Tuesday, headed by a band, were absent from the convention hall during the all-night session.

Most of the representatives of other affiliated organizations were likewise missing.

A convention of the Forty-Eighters was called to meet today to decide what is to be done about the nomination. Some of the Forty-Eighters stuck with the Labor group but the majority of them left the amalgamated convention during the night. Among those who left were George L. Record of New Jersey, Amos Pinchot of New York, Gilson Gardner of Washington and Allan McCurdy of New York, all of whom have been prominently identified with the Committee of Forty-Eight since its birth.

VIEWS OF RECORD.

Record said today it was not probable that the Forty-Eighters would now name a national ticket, but that it would probably organize several Congressional campaigns. The principal business of the committee, he said, was to reform the lines and survey the situation.

J. A. H. Hopkins of New Jersey, one of the leaders of the Forty-Eighters announced to the convention during the night, however, that he would stick to the coalition. The purpose of the Forty-Eight convention today, he said, was to complete organization business. His announcement was greeted with cheers from the Labor ites.

Christensen's nomination was accomplished on the second ballot at about 3 o'clock this morning. Senator Robert M. La Follette at midnight flatly demanded, through his son, that his name be withdrawn from the balloting. The Labor platform, a program declaring for nationalization of resources, democratization of industry and other far-reaching economic reforms, was too radical for the Wisconsin Senator. This left the main fight between Christensen and Dudley Field Malone, former collector of the port of New York.

MALONE LEAD ON FIRST VOTE.

On the first ballot Malone led with 168.8 votes as against 121.1 for Christensen. Eugene V. Debs, the Socialist candidate for President, now serving a sentence in a penitentiary, polled 88 votes. The rest were scattering—Governor Lynn J. Frazier, the Non-Partisan League Governor of North Dakota, receiving 9; Henry Ford, 12; Louis F. Post, Assistant Secretary of Labor, 17, and Dr. Herbert Bigelow, of Cincinnati, 17.

Between the first and second ballots Otto Branstetter, national secretary of the Socialist party, came before the convention and advised the dropping of Debs' name. The convention, thereupon decided to drop all but the leading pair, Christensen and Malone. On the next ballot Christensen received 130.8 votes and Malone 174.6.

It was nearly 3 A. M. when a presidential candidate was selected. Then for almost 2 hours the convention wrestled and wrangled over a vice-president.

A score of names were presented included among them were those of Henry Ford and Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt.

HAYES NOMINATED.

Those present who were placed in nomination hastened to withdraw, and the friends of those who were not there in person did the honors for them. Finally, only three were left: Ford, Mrs. Catt and Hayes. Mrs. Catt is in Europe and could not withdraw. Ford was not present. Hayes had previously had his name withdrawn, but the convention would not hear of it.

With dawn breaking over the roof tops and most of the delegates nodding wearily in their seats, the convention decided that Hayes would have to allow himself to be drafted for the job, and he was.

Christensen Is Practicing Lawyer of Salt Lake City

Harley Parker Christensen is a well known lawyer of Salt Lake City. His career as a lawyer and organizer for some of the largest fraternal organizations in the country has made him well known throughout the West. At present he is a practicing attorney at Salt Lake City.

There is no doubt of his popularity with the delegates generally. They liked him as a joint presiding officer.

He was escorted to the stand after his selection when he formally accepted the nomination.

"My work has just begun," Christensen said.

"I can stand on the platform unequivocally.

"If elected I will see to it that every plank is made into law.

"I'm now going to present all of these ideas to my country."

This is Christensen's first entrance into National politics. After receiving his law degree in New York, he went to Salt Lake City.

Early in life he was elected county prosecutor of Salt Lake county and served two terms.

He was secretary of the Utah State Constitutional Convention several years ago and won a wide reputation throughout the State.

Previous to his election as county prosecutor at Salt Lake, he served for several years as county superintendent of schools at Toole County, Utah.

Christensen is a bachelor and aged 49.

His mother died in the early nineties and the ophinns, then a young man, set out to support and to educate five brothers and sisters.

He also is among those Americans who have risen from the humble places of life to win a Presidential nomination.

He always has been a Progressive-Republican. In 1912 he voted for the Roosevelt-Johnson ticket.

EXONERATE ALLEGED AERIAL BOOTLEGGER

New York, July 15.—Ensign Windsor H. Cushing, senior officer of the seaplane, No. 2,466, accused of transporting whiskey from Bimini, Bahamas, to Key West, in his seaplane, was exonerated by a court-martial sitting at the Navy Yard here.

RAIL TIEUP BRINGS PHONOGRAPHS BY BARGE

A shipment of 2,500 phonographs arrived at Boston aboard the barge Oliver, chartered especially to bring the machines here. The difficulties of rail transportation made it necessary to send the shipment by water. The Oliver brought a similar cargo here a few weeks ago.

DE VALERA TOLD NOONAN TO ACT

Admits Sender of Seized Letters Was Ordered to Write "True" Story of Plank

Chicago, July 15.—Admission that John Noonan was instructed to record the happenings in connection with the progress of the Irish plank at the G. O. P. Convention here was made by President De Valera as he prepared to take a train for New York.

De Valera, however, disclaimed any knowledge of the contents of the alleged letters of Noonan giving the "inside" story of the plank fiasco and censuring Judge Cohalan and Editor Devoy for opposing De Valera's plank policy and for causing the defeat of Irish recognition by the Republican party. The letters were reported seized by the British government on their way to Ireland.

CHARGES MISREPRESENTATION.

De Valera's statement, in reply to a query by the Boston American, follows:

"I do not know whether Mr. Noonan sent any such letters or not. The motives alleged by those of the Friends of Irish Freedom who oppose the plank that I desired to see presented to the Republican convention and the version they gave of the happenings here in connection with that plank could not fail to be clearly seen to be false by any one who was closely in touch with the situation.

"The misrepresentation of the position as given by our opponents was built on certain suppressions and distortions, but mainly on a changing of the order in which certain events occurred.

"No one knowing these events in the order in which they occurred could fail to realize what the true situation was.

"Mr. Noonan was the first of our party to come to Chicago. On that account he knew the happenings from the beginning.

HAS NOT SEEN NOONAN.

"I asked him to make a memorandum of them while they were still fresh in his memory. Any personal comment of his was unnecessary, for the events when stated in full explained themselves.

"Whether Mr. Noonan in fact made this memorandum or not I do not know, as I have not seen him since I gave him verbal instruction to make it before I left for San Francisco.

"It is not impossible that he sent such a memorandum in the form of a letter with his own personal comments to Ireland."

HARDING WANTS WOMEN TO VOTE

For Ratification of Suffrage Whether Deciding State Is Republican Or Democratic

By Universal Service.

Marion, July 15.—"For myself and for the Republican party I earnestly desire that ratification of the Suffrage amendment may be accomplished in time to give the whole body of American women the ballot next November," declared Senator Warren G. Harding, the Republican presidential nominee.

In a straight out and emphatic statement the Senator cleared up his position on the suffrage question and answered charges by militant suffrage leaders that he had evaded the issue.

"I do not care a fig whether ratification is secured through a Republican or a Democratic State." He announced. "I will rejoice if North Carolina will do it, or if Tennessee will do it, just as I would rejoice if a Republican State did it."

Two of Senator Harding's callers were Alexander Moora, publisher of the Pittsburgh Leader, and Robert F. Wolfe, publisher of Ohio newspapers. Ralph D. Cole, candidate for Republican nomination for Governor of Ohio, with Mrs. Cole and their son, Ralph, also visited the Senator. Cole said he was certain of a Republican victory in Ohio in November.

Republicans here today are rejoicing over the denunciation of the Democratic platform and pledge of support to the Republican ticket given by Samuel J. Randall of Philadelphia, son of a former Democratic leader of Pennsylvania and one of the great Speakers of the national House of Representatives.

FOUR IMPLICATED IN FREIGHT THEFT CHARGES

Lawrence, July 15.—Facing charges of larceny of goods valued at $1,468 said to have been stolen from freight cars of the B. & M. Railroad, Fred L. Bradley, Oscar Ladish and Edward A. McDonnell entered pleas of not guilty before Judge J. J. Mahoney. The men were arrested following the seizure of a large quantity of alleged stolen property from the cellar of a Lawrence street grocery. George Pollard, keeper of the grocery, is held in $1,000 bonds to answer to a charge of receiving the stolen goods.

BELIEVE LAWRENCE GEM THIEVES CAPTURED

Lawrence, July 15.—The arrest of Timothy McDonald and Robert Hendry of this city after the pair had attempted to sell a ring in a jewelry store is regarded by the local police as an important capture. The police believe they can connect the men with breaks in various parts of the city where housekeepers have obtained jewelry and money.

U. S. GIVES 2,000 COWS FOR BABES OF GERMANY

Berlin, July 15.—The gift of several thousand milch cows from the United States to relieve starving German children, was announced by the Lokal Anzeiger.

WAKEFIELD BOY SAVES PLAYMATE FROM LAKE

Stanley Deyes, aged seven, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Deyes of No. 42 Church street, Wakefield, was saved from drowning by John Crosby, aged sixteen, of No. 8 Nichols street, and resuscitated after he had been unconscious for more than an hour. The youth was playing on a runway of an icehouse on Lake Quannapowitt, near his home, when he fell into the water.

BRITAIN PUTS RUSSIA BEFORE IRELAND, SAYS SHAW

Now, as the French are supposed to be nothing if not logical, and the English are supposed never to know what they want, but always to grab it without preliminary consideration, this is remarkable criticism. France may have had per logical head turned by victory, but the case of England is not so simple.

England's councils are divided as to what she wants. Churchill, like all empires, she wants the earth; that goes without saying.

ENGLAND WANTS CRIMEA.

The immediately practical point is what instalment of the earth is she after at this moment. Will she have convinced Russia that she wants the Crimea. Failing that, she wants Sebastopol. It would be a difficult one to her Eastern connexion. Besides, all good Englishmen believe that Sebastopol was won for England by the charge of the Light Brigade at Balaklava, and belongs as naturally to Britain as Jerusalem to the Church of England.

How to get it is a detail that has not been worked out further than a proposal by Lord Curzon to mediation between the Soviet government and General Wrangel with a view to the setting aside of what territory the general is entitled to.

The militarist imperialists covet the gold, too, and since the old, inglorious, vulgar, acquisitive methods of trade. They would annex the Crimea, loot the gold and impose a constitutional regime upon Russia, with preferably some cadet of the British royal house as Czar. This is not at present a practical program. But it is enough to bring down the British Junker on the side of the Times and against Mr. Krassin.

Mr. Krassin understands this all quite well, for when it comes to "think imperially" this variable and cultivated gentleman, whom Punch supposed to be a British gentleman for excellence's caricatures as an unkempt, unclean fool being ordered from the front door of England to the tradesmen's entrance, can think much more imperially than Mr. Winston Churchill seems able to for long at a time.

"DOMINION HOME RULER."

I invite attention of our extreme left in Ireland to the fact that when Mr. Krassin declares that the Moscow soviet government is entirely friendly to the independent republics of Russia —the Ukraine and the rest—he takes care to add that there are, of course, some matters in which complete independence is physically impossible. He specifically cites, too, the army and the railway system. In short, the soviet statesman, representing the most advanced politics thought in Europe, is a dominion home ruler.

However, neither England nor Russia is at present thinking much about Ireland. An Irish police barrack, or even a police constable more or less, does not count in the more lucrative matter of the Crimea, which means the matter of Persia, which affects the matter of India, which is the magnetic centre of the empire.

Ireland must now, as always, do her own thinking, and not overestimate the degree to which the rest of the world is preoccupied with her little affairs. England, like Alexander has new worlds to conquer, and, as to England's feelings, I fully expect to live to see Germany adopted as the spoiled child of Britain and cries that England and France are natural enemies, and the United States a guiltfound peril. Therefore, she has no emotion to spare for her avowed enemies, Sinn Feiners.

IRELAND'S "MISTAKE."

There is, perhaps, a tendency to recall the remark of lately abhorred Treitschke, that history cannot concern itself seriously with politically impossible people like the Poles and the Irish, and it is certainly a little unfortunate that we Irish should have chosen the moment at which Poland was showing that it had learned nothing and forgotten nothing to revive cock fighting. But Ireland is hardly in the centre of the stage just now and there are only one or two matters to be noted.

One of these is that if the Royal Irish Constabulary, the real garrison, had been intrusted with an adequate armament, the campaign against it would hardly have been possible. It was not clearly a case for machine guns, wireless installations and battle planes. But the force was an Irish force, and the Castle did not dare to make it really formidable. It was therefore sacrificed to work up feeling enough in England to back up an invasion of non-Irish troops.

We need not blame the British government for this. It is one of the inevitable consequences of trying to govern a nation against its will. That job has always to be done by outsiders.

Then we have the conversion of Ulster from "we won't have it" to "we can't help ourselves," exactly as Sir Horace Plunkett predicted, by labor pressure. Precisely the same labor pressure which compelled Sir Edward Carson to accept the Home Rule bill will presently compel the Ulster capitalists to join forces with the farmers of the South against the advance of the proletariat (the field proprietors are the natural allies of the factory proprietors), and therefore to insist on a single parliament for all Ireland.

LAUDS PREMIER'S SPEECH.

Only the other day Mr. Lloyd George made the first sensible speech he has made since the election. He pointed out to the English railway workers that for a government to allow a trade union or any group of unelected men to interfere seriously with the foreign policy of the State and actually take hostile steps against a foreign power would be not only an act of abdication on its own part, but an abandonment of parliamentary government altogether.

Nothing could be truer or more statesmanlike. What nobody seems so far to have remembered is that this marked a conversion on the prime minister's part. When, on Sir Edward Carson and his friends threatening him with direct action, as the National Union of Railway Workers did, he assured them that Ulster would not in any case be concerned, he was inviting rebellion, abdicating his own ministry and renouncing parliamentary government. All the mischief that has come since is the fruit of that assurance.

A Prime Minister who would hesitate to devastate London as ruthlessly as Dublin was devastated in 1916 sooner than allow its inhabitants to override or browbeat the Parliament has no business to be in politics at all.

But what the National Union of Railway Workers wants to know is why its members are not to be privileged to do what the Ulster volunteers were privileged to do, and why their leader, Mr. Thomas, is to be rebuked as a bandit because he was unable to deny before the extreme left of his union that Sir Edward Carson has been honored by a seat in the cabinet for doing exactly what the extreme left wanted to do.

TO COVERN ULSTER.

It is cheering to see that Mr. Lloyd George has come to his senses and is presumably now prepared to govern Ulster at last.

Also that Sir Edward is so ashamed of his appeal to "direct action" that when Captain Kenworthy reminded him of it in Parliament the speaker had to interfere to protect him, calling on the captain to behave like a gentleman.

This can only have meant to refrain from kicking Sir Edward when he was down, for in no other respect did Captain Kenworthy lay himself open to criticism, while Sir Edward's angry retort accusing the war-worn commander of "fighting for the enemies of his country" was enough to make the Flanders dead turn in their graves.

Both these incidents raise the question whether Mr. Lloyd George and Sir Edward are really converted, or whether they are only blind in one eye.

I prefer the more hopeful conclusion, but I cannot help wishing that the two heroes had learned a little constitutional law first and taken to politics afterwards.

CANADA PAPERS FORCED TO QUIT

Rising Cost of Paper Cause of Many Suspensions and Amalgamations

Toronto, July 15—The rise in the cost of paper continues to produce mortality among Canadian newspapers. A few days ago the Toronto World, which was established nearly half a century ago, and under the control of W. F. Maclean, M. P., has been among the most virile journals of Canada, was forced to make an assignment.

Some months ago the Brantford Courier was absorbed by the Expositor of the same city. The St. Catharines Journal, with a long and honorable history, has also ceased publication. A year or more ago the Toronto Times closed its doors, and in Montreal and the West there have been suspensions or amalgamations of various daily publications.

RISE IN COSTS.

The Regina Leader, one of the most prosperous of Western dailies, has just published instructive figures of the rise of paper prices. In 1916 the price was 2 cents per pound, or $40 per ton, as compared with $120 per ton since April 1. The total annual cost of paper to the Leader advanced from $14,000 in 1916 to $168,000 at the close of 1919. The further increase for Western papers announced in April will add $54,000. Thus the total increase for 1920 will be $103,000.

Owing to lower freight charges, explained by shorter haulings, prices of paper have been lower in the older provinces than in Western Canada, but even for the dailies of Montreal and Toronto the price will be at least $100 per ton. This for some of the chief journals will mean a total annual increase of $200,000 to $250,000 in the cost of paper above that of four or five years ago.

INCREASE IN POSTAGE.

The charges of the postal department for transportation also will be increased. It is proposed that within a distance of forty miles from the place of publication newspapers and periodicals shall be transmitted free of postage, but if required to be carried for a greater distance the present rate of one-fourth cent per pound shall be increased to 1 cent per pound from January 1, 1921, to January 1, 1922, and 1½ cents thereafter.

There is a prospect, however, that higher paper prices will reduce the circulation of American publications in Canada, and thus indirectly benefit Canadian newspapers and periodicals. For example, the Philadelphia Saturday Evening Post, which has sold in tens of thousands in Canada, has ceased to supply Canadian newsdealers and sends only to mail subscribers.

TWO FILE ELECTION PAPERS IN REVERE

Senator Andrew Casassa of Revere has filed nomination papers. Harry Maniff of Revere will also be candidate of the G. O. P. as representative of the 27th district. He is chairman of the Public Speaker's Bureau of the U. S. Navy, and is a member of the Revere Post, A. L.

CHILDREN MAKE MONEY SELLING BLUEBERRIES

Blueberries are plentiful in Middlesex County, and each day hundreds of quarts are picked. Many children are making good money selling the berries at 25 cents a quart, clearing several dollars a day.

451 BABIES BORN IN BOSTON DURING JUNE

There were 451 new born babies registered in Boston in June. The Instructive District Nursing Association termed it "the heaviest summer month known in the history of the association."

POLICE HUNT HURLER OF ROCK THAT HIT WOMAN

Mrs. Eva Norgunas, 25, of No. 196 Fourth street, South Boston, suffered a severe cut of the head, when she was struck by a rock hurled at a North Cambridge bound car at Commonwealth avenue and Everett street, Arlington. She was treated by Dr. Charles J. Walsh and taken home in a taxi. The police are investigating.

DORCHESTER MAN BREAKS HIS LEG IN BALL GAME

Harold F. Pettipaw, 22, of No. 6 Cedar street, Dorchester Lower Mills, is in the City Hospital with a broken leg as a result of an accident in a ball game at Nightingale Field, Mattapan. Pettipaw was running to catch a fly ball when he collided with another player. His right leg was broken below the knee.

TO DETERMINE FATE OF $1,000 WORTH OF FOWL

Haverhill, July 15—At a hearing before Judge Wing in the Central district court next Saturday the fate of forty fighting cocks, valued at $1,000 seized in a raid in Boxford wood, two weeks ago, by State police will be determined. J. Charles F. Clarke agent for the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, who participated in the raid has received word that the owner of the birds will put in a claim for them. If the man does he is subject to a fine of $200.

Predict Sugar Will Lower in Cost

A drop in the price of sugar is predicted by members of the Commission on the Necessaries of Life. With sugar selling at prices ranging from 24 to 27 cents, considerable amounts of the product are arriving at this port which, it is stated, should lower the price.

From the Philippines 5,000 tons have been received here, and much Hawaiian sugar is being landed on the Pacific coast. Louisiana sugar is being sent North and it is expected much German beet sugar will be received in this country this Fall.

"DANDERINE"

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dust, dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Mulsified cocoanut oil shampoo at any pharmacy; it is very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months.—Advertisement.

PREDICTS LOWER SHOE PRICES

Joseph Daoust, at Montreal Convention, Urges Dealers to Buy Lightly

Montreal, Quebec, July 15.—A semi-official announcement, which undoubtedly heralds official action in the way of reducing shoe prices by manufacturers to retailers, was made by Joseph Daoust at the shoe retailers' convention here.

Pointing out that upper leather had declined 20 to 25 per cent., but that sole leather had not, he indicated his belief that a 10 per cent reduction in sole leather could be looked for as a result of pressure on the tanners. He showed that operative costs were going higher, predicted wages would go still higher and asked how, under these circumstances, these could be any logical basis for a sharp cut in prices.

It is necessary for manufacturers and retailers to co-operate to keep business going, he said, consequently it was likely the manufacturers would sacrifice their profits and make a reduction of 10 per cent., not more, would send prices soaring again, he told guests at a luncheon in his honor of the aims of the board.

The admiral laid before his audience not only the importance of the marine, but its present scope and size. He explained that the Shipping Board, in the Leviathan case, advertised for bids to overhaul the vessel, and decided the lowest big of more than $8,000,000 was too high. Bids to buy were then asked, and the best received was for $3,600,000 and 25 per cent. of the earnings of the vessel for ten years. He said he might still act on that proposition, but felt the matter should be laid before the entire board.

Bride of Four Months Sues for Divorce

Taunton, July 15.—Mrs. Patty Wilcox Olstein of New Bedford instituted divorce proceedings in the Superior Court here against her husband, Otto A. Olstein, to whom she was married on March 24 of this year. The petitioner prays that she may be allowed to resume her maiden name of Patty Wilcox. She is a daughter of the late Thomas B. Wilcox, prominent years ago in the shipping industry.

Mr. Olstein before his marriage was a clerk in a clothing store. Rumors of trouble in the home had been current before the starting of the present proceedings, and the Olsteins, it is said, have not been recently living together. The petitioner, with an attorney and others, left the courthouse here in a touring car toward Boston after the certificate of the suit had been issued to them for service on the husband.

He advised retailers to start buying now and to buy small quantities and not to wait till the demand from the public grew strong. If they waited too long there would be a shortage of supplies because factories would not be operating and the rush of buying all at one time would send prices soaring again, he

ASSIGN CARS FOR N. E. COAL

Mayor Peters Gets Assurance from Commission; Storrow in New York

Assurance is contained in a telegram from the Interstate Commerce Commission to Mayor Peters that priority orders now in force would relieve the coal shortage in New England. The Mayor made no comment on the communication, which was in reply to a message from him, but said he was anxious to receive a reply from President Wilson to his letter pointing out the serious fuel situation here.

The telegram from the commerce commission is signed by Commissioner Atchison and reads as follows:

"Service order 9, issued by the commission yesterday, authorizing railroads east of the Mississippi River to assign open-top cars preferentially to mines for loading coal for public utilities. This should take care of situation referred to by you. Moreover, commission by service order 8 authorizes preference and priority in car supply transportation and dumping of coal consigned to Storrow for New England.

"James J. Storrow, fuel administrator for New England, is in New York today, conferring with bituminous coal operators and the executive committee of the association of railway executives on the car shortage.

German Hangmen on Strike; No Executions

The most unusual strike in the world is in progress in parts of Germany, where the hangmen are out.

German newspapers report that the hangmen want more money.

Authorities at Meiningen had completed every arrangement for the execution of a slayer when at the last minute it was found that the operator had joined the "union" and was "out."

An appeal was made to Munich and other nearby cities without avail. The hangmen in these places, too, are holding out for more money.

At last accounts the condemned man at Meiningen still was unhung.

QUINCY FOLK TO PROTEST INCREASE IN FARES

A meeting of the Home Rule Committee, operating the street cars of Quincy, has been called by Chairman Forrest I. Neal for tomorrow afternoon to consider objections to fare increases. Delegations of industrial employes of the Fore River works and other plants will be present to demand a ten-cent fare with transfers. The present fare until is ten cents with no transfer privilege.

BENSON TELLS SHIP PLANS

Admiral Says Duty of American People Is to Have Powerful Merchant Marine

New York, July 15.—Declaring that the American people have not only the right but the duty to maintain a powerful merchant marine, Rear-Admiral William S. Benson, chairman of the United States Shipping Board, told guests at a luncheon in his honor of the aims of the board.

The admiral laid before his audience not only the importance of the marine, but its present scope and size. He explained that the Shipping Board, in the Leviathan case, advertised for bids to overhaul the vessel, and decided the lowest big of more than $8,000,000 was too high. Bids to buy were then asked, and the best received was for $3,600,000 and 25 per cent. of the earnings of the vessel for ten years. He said he might

MAKERS
Men's Goodyear Welts
BOSTON, MASS.

July 10, 1920

Gentlemen:-

Common sense will tell you that if you could buy a pair of shoes at the factory direct from the maker that would be the best possible way to get them at the lowest price.

If, on top of that, the manufacturer was so heavily stocked that he was willing to take a big sacrifice to turn his shoes into money then your opportunity would be all the better.

The Chance is here - We are conducting now a big sacrifice sale of Men's Goodyear Welt Shoes right from our factory in Auburn, at 617 Atlantic Ave., Boston; equipped so you can try them on and have every attention.

Sincerely,

DISGUISED CARS TO FOOL BUYERS

Trask Tells Manner in Which Plates and Engine Numbers Were Changed

James E. Trask, confessed member of an auto theft ring in Boston, whose disclosures, made under oath, furnish the public with the first inside information of the outlaw traffic, today tells how stolen cars are camouflaged. He also tells how he got into the "system" which was linked with master operatives in Rhode Island.

He tells of how he procured number plates illegally and other tricks of the syndicate. Trask was employed as "manager" by Samuel C. Harris, wealthy horse dealer of this city. He says Harris, in addition to conducting sales stables on Friend street, had a livery and automobile business in Newton, known as "Elmwood Stable and Garage," which was a mart for stolen cars.

BOUGHT MANY CARS.

"After I went to Newton and got the hitch of the business," testified Trask, "we bought many cars.

Q—Harris had a taxicab service at the depot? A—Yes.

Q—Where was Harris living then? A—Hotel Somerset.

Q—What further talk did you have with Mr. Harris about making money out of these automobiles? A—There was a car came from Aronofsky's (junk) yard shortly after I took charge.

Q—Did you go and get that car? A—Yes.

Q—What were the circumstances? A—Mr. Harris went over with me that day. He telephoned and I met him at the stable with number plates.

Q—In whose name were those number plates? A—Elmwood Stable and Garage Company.

Q—Who signed the application? A—Samuel C. Harris.

Q—After you reached Aronofsky's yard what conversation did you have with Harris? A—Why, he just told me to take the car out and fix it.

Q—What kind of a car was it? A—Ford.

Q—Did he tell you where it came from? A—From Providence.

Q—Was it a stolen car? A—Yes, sir.

Q—How do you know it was stolen? A—Well, Mr. ——— we changed the number plates and the number of the motor were filed off and changed in Aronofsky's yard before I left for Newton with it.

FILED OFF ENGINE NUMBERS.

The Court—Were those the engine numbers that were filed off? A—Yes, sir.

Q—Who filed the numbers off the engine? A—The fellow that brought the car from Providence.

Q—Who put the new numbers on the engine? A—I guess Aronofsky and the fellow from Providence both assisted.

Q—Up to that time did you know anything about changing numbers on cars? A—I did not.

Q—Did you infer? A—I did.

Q—Explain how this is done? A—The numbers are on the left-hand side of the cylinder block.

Q—Under the hood that covers the engine? A—Yes. Those were filed off and stamped on with steel dies and a hammer.

Q—Whose dies were used on that car? A—Aronofsky got them in his office.

Q—Did you use those dies later? A—Yes, sir. Many times.

Q—Under what circumstances? A—On Ford cars.

Q—By whose suggestion did you get the dies? A—At Mr. Harris' suggestion.

Q—What did he say to you in regard to it? A—He explained to me that the numbers had to be changed on cars as Aronofsky had explained to him.

Q—Did Harris procure dies of his own? A—I ordered a set.

Q—By reason of talk with Harris? A—I done it myself.

Q—Were the dies paid for in cash or by check? A—They were charged.

Q—To Harris? A—Yes, sir.

Q—Did you have occasion to get any more cars from Aronofsky? A—Two Mets cars and numerous Ford cars.

MOSTLY NEW MACHINES.

Q—Were any of the Fords used in the taxi business in Newton? A—Yes, sir.

Q—To what extent? A—The chassis were taken out from under the taxicabs and the chassis of the ones we got from Aronofsky were put under and the bodies were put on the old taxicab chassis and they were sold around town.

Q—Were the Fords mostly new cars? A—Yes, sir.

Q—Do you recall any talk with Harris when you were making the changes on those taxicabs with regard to the chances that were being taken? A—We talked that over two or three times.

Q—What was said? A—I told Mr. Harris I didn't like it. I told him I was afraid we would get into trouble. He said he would protect me if we did; to stick to my story and he would stay behind me.

Q—Just what led you to make that remark to Harris, that you might get into trouble? A—Well, they were coming pretty plentiful and I was suspicious that perhaps the boys driving the taxicabs would get onto it.

Q—What was the method of paying for these cars? A—Sometimes we paid cash for them and sometimes I simply went and got them.

Q—When you paid cash who would you pay? A—Aleck Aronofsky as a rule.

New Yorkers May Wear Name Tags

New York, July 15.—Every resident of New York may be required to have his or her name plainly written on some part of their clothing, if a suggestion made to police and health officials today is incorporated in the sanitary code of the Health Department.

The proposal resulted from a complaint of Mrs. Elizabeth Lyons that her sister died and was buried in February, and that she was not notified until an insurance company presented her with a bill for the burial expenses.

Another suggestion was that identification of unknown dead be assured by adoption of universal finger printing and foot printing at birth.

BISHOP MANNIX FLAYS BRITISH

Says England, "Enemy of U. S. for All Time," Will Never Again Rule Erin

Plattsburg, N. Y., July 15.—"There is no use in mincing words. Ireland is ruled by an alien government it hates," said Archbishop Mannix, in an address delivered before the Catholic Summer School here. "It is no more reconciled now than in Cromwell's time. Cromwell had too many soldiers; Britain has too many now, with tanks and machine guns. British rule in Ireland is over forever, and she will never rule Ireland again."

The archbishop and Bishop Foley and Monsignor Lavelle and Hickey of Brooklyn, and Thomas MacMillan of the Paulists, were given a big ovation.

"De Valera has placed the full issues before America," Archbishop Mannix continued, "and there is no alternative but that the United States choose between the British rule of might and De Valera's government of right. Your boys fought for right to replace might. I see no way but for American recognition of De Valera, and I hope it comes soon.

"Some have said England was a friendly nation. She has never been a friend of the United States. Ireland has the same grievance against England which the American revolutionists had, only ten times greater. I hope that Ireland will make a fight that will be equally successful. England was your enemy, she is your enemy, and she will be your enemy for all time. She just pretended to be your friend during the war."

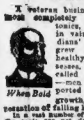
Baldness Conquered

A veteran business man, who was almost completely bald and had tried tonics, lotions, shampoos, etc., in vain, came across an Indians' elixir by which he grew a complete crop of healthy hair in new positions. The hair elixir is called "KOTALKO." Others—men and women—have reported remarkable aid to hair growth, relief from dandruff, cessation of falling hair by using Kotalko.



When Bald

In a vast number of cases, when hair falls out, the roots are not dead, but remain for some time imbedded in the scalp, like seeds or bulbs, needing only fertility. The usual hair tonics, etc., are of no avail. The Indians' discovery, Kotalko, is said to supply this fertility and promote growth. It costs so little to try Kotalko it would be a pity to lose the benefit that might bring to you.

Wonderful results reported. For men's, women's and children's hair. If you are bald, or losing hair, or have dandruff, you should try KOTALKO; it may be what's needed for your scalp and in such case it is a pleasure to observe the starting of new hair and its steady growth. You may increase until prolific growth. Obtain Kotalko at any busy drug store. Or a proof box will be mailed. If you send 10 cents, silver or stamps, to John Kerr Bellamy, Station D, Box 2008, N. York.

Strikes in Bay State Showing Big Decline

State Department Reports 24 in June, Against 81 in May —Industries Letting Up—Better Tone in Wool and Leather Markets

New England industries are slowing down and leading markets—shoes, wool and cotton cloth—are unusually quiet for this season of the year. Just when the factories that were forced to close for lack of business, will reopen is an open question, but already signs are beginning to turn up that the shut-down will not be of long duration. The "readjustment period" is apparently here.

For one thing there is a marked tion of the shoe and leather trades is falling off in the number of strikes. Returns to the State Department of Industries show that from May 1 to 15, there were no less than fifty strikes reported. From May 16 to 31, there were eighteen, June 1 to 15, there were sixteen and from June 16 to 30, only eight were reported. During the first six days in July, six strikes were reported.

The month of May is usually a heavy one for strikes, because in that month many wage agreements expire, obviously with industry letting up, many thousands of persons out of work and prices, especially in clothing lower, labor is inclined to await developments and see to just what extent prices are coming down, if at all, before new demands are made.

Banks Aid in Deflation

While thousands of workers have been thrown out of employment, it must not be forgotten that employers are suffering. These shut-downs and mark-down prices are forcing losses and the number of failures has increased. This is to be expected in a period of readjustment. The Federal Reserve Board has taken the position that business must be conducted on a more orderly basis, if general depression is to be prevented. Consequently loans are being restricted to only absolutely essential projects, and others must wait.

Reserves of the federal reserve banks are down to a point, where those governing the purse strings are an unhealthy condition. The Federal Reserve Bank of Boston is to be classed among the most conservative in the country. Its ratio of reserves to net deposit and federal reserve note liabilities combined as of July 9, was 51.1 per cent. where for the country as a whole the ratio stood at 43.1 per cent.

Only Cleveland ranked ahead of Boston, with a percentage of 52.2. New York reported 39.8 per cent., Chicago 39.8 and Minneapolis, 39.2. In fact, the Boston banks have been lending money to other districts.

Turn in Wool and Leather Marts

Reports are now coming to hand from all over New England of shut-downs, or curtailment. The hat makers down at Danbury, Connecticut, are beginning to feel a slump; the Fall River and New Bedford cotton mills are running at about 85 per cent. capacity and new orders are scarce.

So it goes for the scores of woolen mills scattered all over the northeastern section, and also the shoe factories. Pay envelopes for the past few weeks will be lighter than for many months. However, there are redeeming factors. Inquiry now Summer street extension finds a more optimistic sentiment than prevailed a fortnight ago.

They console themselves in the fact that the mills cannot stay closed long before the world is clamoring for cloth. A few sales have taken place during the past week, though the market is still "nominal." They figure that prices should pick up as the Fall business comes in.

The present wave of cut-price sales in shoes and clothing are clearing shelves of stock. The public is eagerly buying at the sales. Atten-

America's Fisheries—An Undeveloped Industry of Great Possibilities

In its rich fisheries the United States possesses an undeveloped natural resource which needs only organization, capital and brains to make it one of the nation's greatest industries.

The American fisheries have hitherto been conducted so inefficiently that fish as an important food staple has failed to win the nation-wide popularity and market it deserves. So crude has been the organization of our fisheries, particularly as regards distribution, that fish in sufficient quantities and of good quality has been unobtainable regularly by much of our inland population.

The U. S. Bureau of Fisheries states that there is a huge unsatisfied demand for fish, especially in the Middle West and South. An enormously rich field awaits the wide-awake concern which enters the fish industry properly organized and equipped. In England, where twenty-five years ago the fisheries were in as chaotic a state as here now, more capital is profitably employed in the fisheries than in the American beef industry. The American beef supply is decreasing, and the consumption of fish will constantly grow.

The problems of handling and distributing fish and beef are identical, and progressive concerns are meeting them the right way, equipped with ample capital, fleets of steam trawlers, big central plants and excellent merchandising systems. All honor to these companies for their far-sighted progressiveness!

OUTLOOK BRIGHT FOR RAILROADS

Rate and Wage Increases Should Result in Improved Service, Says Edgar J. Rich

Six months from now will see a noticeable improvement in railroad service, in the opinion of Edgar J. Rich, who has returned from several days in Washington where he represented the Associated Industries of Massachusetts at the Interstate Commerce Commission hearings on railroad rates.

Mr. Rich characterized the hearings as "the most momentous in recent years." He pictured the condition of the New England railroads to a reporter for the American, and outlined some methods of relief. At the outset he said that the industries of New England realize that the railroads must have higher rates to provide proper service. Their position is that a fair levy should be established, with passenger service standing some of the additional burden," he said.

"Manufacturers hope that raw materials, such as coal, wool, cotton, lumber, etc., will be spared as much as possible from the increase," said Mr. Rich. "Chicago has a coal rate $1 a ton, whereas the rate to Boston is $4. It is obvious that if coal rates are to be boosted 25 per cent. generally, Chicago would have to stand an increase of only 25 cents, against $1 in Boston. This would make it harder for our industries to compete.

"In New England we are compelled to maintain large stocks of raw materials. This means that all goods shipped to or from Boston must be handled several times at great expense. Connecting roads appreciate this extra burden here and a flat charge is made for doing this terminal work.

"It would help the New England roads very much if they were given a larger share of the through freight charges, because of peculiar conditions here. Take the haul from Chicago to Boston. Outside of New England the haul is practically on level ground, with a minimum of switching required. But as soon as Massachusetts is reached, grades are struck, an expensive tunnel is passed and there are numerous switching requirements.

"The railroads east of the Mississippi River and north of the Potomac have asked for an increase of 20 per cent. in rates. This does not take into account whatever additional expenses are caused by the War Labor Board's decision on wages. It would not surprise me if more than 30 per cent. in rates is granted.

"Of course, whatever increase is allowed, this will add to the cost of living. However, I am inclined to believe that the manufacturers are going to be forced to absorb some of the rate boost. Commodities are on the downward trend and we are getting into a buyers' market. When prices were going up it was easy to add the increases on and pass them along to the consumer."

As to the future of the railroads, Mr. Rich said: "I believe that six months will see a vast improvement in railroad service. The roads will have received an increase in rates, labor will have received a boost in wages, and shippers will be satisfied. "The effects should be seen in better service.

BARNEY MOTORED TO NORTHAMPTON AND CHEERED COOLIDGE

Herman L. Barney's most astounding escapade during his unique "jail vacation" is described in today's installment of the Boston American's exclusive inside story of Barney's break from the Massachusetts State Prison. It describes how he visited Northampton and stood within ten feet of Governor Calvin Coolidge without being recognized.

Although during his stay over the border in New York state, a few miles from this community with, Barney saw a number of strangers, none of the members of the auto thieves' gang to visited him. Such strangers as he met were casual visitors to the town near which he was staying.

While free to go and come as he liked, Barney realized that he was in fact in the custody of the man who owned the house in which he lodged, who was in the pay of the gang. The only communications he received from the gang were two letters.

For some unexplained reason plans for Barney's moving further away to lay. Even Barney himself did not know why the gang made no effort to aid him to move further from the shadows of Charlestown State Prison. His money was running low and making any effort to replenish his exchequer.

Barney himself chafed under even the light restraint of being confined to a single town. He wearied of the simple amusements which the village afforded, and longed to push on far away from the Massachusetts line.

He even tired of reading the newspaper accounts of the search being maintained for himself and Manster, from whom he had heard no word since they parted at the door of Barney's cell in Charlestown State Prison.

WAVES TO POLICE OFFICIAL.

Meeting such strangers as came to town, face to face, without any disguise, he had satisfied himself that he was not so liable to capture as the gang leaders seemed to think. He even once waved to a Boston police official who passed him on the road in an automobile, and the latter showed no sign of recognition.

On June 19 he read that Governor Calvin Coolidge was to be welcomed by the citizens of Northampton the following day and would hold a reception on the porch of his modest home. Barney conceived the idea that it would be a great lark to attend that reception. It would afford an enjoyable break in what was rapidly becoming an impossible monotonous existence.

When he broached the subject to the man at whose home he was a "guest" the latter at first would hear nothing of the idea. The man had his orders from the gang that Barney was to be kept "under cover" and by no stretch of his imagination could he believe that this order would permit him to take Barney to Northampton.

Barney, however, was not to be refused and by the exercise of all his powers of persuasion succeeded in convincing his "host" that the danger would be small.

It was finally arranged that Barney should form one of a party of three to attend the Coolidge welcome at Northampton. A young woman, and Barney's "host" were the other members. A large touring car was provided, and it was arranged that the girl should drive, and that Barney should sit beside her.

STARTS FOR NORTHAMPTON.

On the morning of June 20, after a hearty breakfast, Barney dressed himself in a brand new suit of clothes, which bore the trademark of the most expensive tailor in Boston. He wore a new pair of $15 cordovan low cuts, an $5 straw hat with a fancy band, a silk shirt, and a brilliant silk tie.

Barney took his place in the front seat of the touring car beside the girl driver, and the trip to Northampton was begun. On the way Barney's spirits rose to a high degree. He was really enjoying himself, perhaps for the first time since he had become a "guest" over the state line boundary.

Northampton was, of course, filled with people who knew Barney state police officers, including the Governor's bodyguard, Officer Edward Horrigan, were on every hand. All knew Barney by sight. And there were others, politicians and plain citizens, who knew the fugitive.

This fact bothered Barney not the slightest. That anyone would recognize the fugitive from State Prison in the immaculate, debonair youth did not seem to occur to Barney. And he was right.

He and the girl, closely followed by his "host," got out of the car and mingled with the crowd which gathered in front of the Coolidge residence. He touched elbows with State policemen, who merely glanced at him and failed to recognize him. He stared out of countenance politicians who knew him.

CHEERS COOLIDGE.

When the vice-presidential nominee of the Republican party stepped out on his porch Barney stood within two feet of him in the foremost ranks of the crowd. He cheered the head of the State in which he was supposed to be a prisoner for the years as lustily as the Governor's closest friends.

The fugitive's eyes danced with pleasure as he mingled with the crowd and took part in the noisy demonstration. It was Barney's hour of supreme enjoyment.

The reception over, Barney clambered back into the waiting machine and the girl started back to the fugitive's home in Northampton. On the way Barney "kidded" his "host" about how easily he had passed a period unnoticed under the noses of people who knew him well by sight, and laughed at the discomfiture of the state police officers with whom he had touched elbows when they should discover how near each of them had been to collecting a reward of $1,100.

The thought that he had stood within two feet of the man who had offered $1,000 for him dead or alive seemed to tickle him immensely, and the quiet country road echoed with his mirth over the fact that he had been among those who aided in complimenting this man on his nomination for the Vice-Presidency.

"It isn't everyone who would cheer a man who offered a thousand dollars for your dead body," he said several times.

THREATENED WITH DEATH.

The return trip was without incident. Shortly after his "host" was reached, however, Barnty's mirth died a sudden death.

Exactly what had happened among the auto thieves' gang in Boston Barney was unable to tell, but word came to him that all was not well. He learned that not only were plans for a continuance of his flight at an end, but that members of the gang, fearful lest he expose them, were taking seriously of taking his life.

Something very grave had happened. Something had gone wrong.

One grim, unswerving path opened itself to the fugitive. He must give himself up and return to Charlestown State prison.

It was practically a choice between that and death.

It was hinted to him, however, that he had some faithful followers still, and that terms would be made by which all hope for the future would not be lost to him.

HAGEN POPULAR IN ENGLAND

Papers Devoted Much Space to Doings of U. S. Open Title Holder Off the Links

By ROBERT E. HARLOW.

This is the second article in a series on the British open golf championship and golf in England which is being written by Robert E. Harlow, the golf editor of the American who returned this week from Great Britain.

An American golf champion needs no press agent while he is visiting England.

From the hour it was announced in London newspapers that Walter Hagen ordered fresh strawberries and cream at the Carlton Hotel at $3.50 a portion, he was accorded enough great publicity to make advertising managers weep.

The funny thing about the strawberries and cream was that they were paid for by Dick Martin, a New York newspaper man, who happened to be entertaining Hagen that morning. The expensive price was asked because the berries were supposed to have been transported by aeroplane from Southern France.

Even if Hagen did not buy these particular berries, he did other things which were fully as wonderful. Walter engaged a limousine, with chauffeur attached, during his visit. He never saw the inside of a London tube or underground. He motored about the countryside.

Wherever he left his dust he was followed about by a delegation of Fleet street reporters, bent on informing the British public of the latest costume the American champion appeared in and of the most significant fact that Hagen had decided to have, "my chauffeur caddy for me in the championship."

One London newspaper man who had an interview with Hagen misquoted the champion grievously, making him say that he had come 3,000 miles to win the British open and that he would shoot around Deal in an average of 72 strokes per round. Hagen said nothing of the sort and the paper retracted the interview. Hagen never made any such blunder while in England. He was most modest concerning his golf in all statements he made. In the particular interview referred to, he said he had traveled 3,000 m les to do his best and that he understood the par for the Deal courses was 72. This was the only attempt made to misrepresent Hagen before the British public.

Now that the war [illegible] over, the [illegible] Hagen's game. [illegible] of space was devoted to analytical studies of the American champion's form and when an English sporting writer starts to explain a golfer's style, it reads just like a text book on geometrical configuration and is fully as long. Summed up, most of the critics decided there was something wrong with Hagen's swing.

Try a cheese dish on Friday

FRIDAY is now Cheese Day, instead of Fish Day. We are learning that cheese is a most nourishing "meat food" supplying all the body and strength building elements of lean beef in condensed form.

Kraft Cheese in Tins is the sanitary new way to buy cheese. It is the cleanest, most convenient and wasteless way. Kraft Cheese is sterilized, blended to insure uniform quality, then packed and sealed in parchment lined, air-tight tins. It will keep in any climate.

Kraft Cheese can be served uncooked, it is just right to spread, or it can be prepared in scores of delicious ways. It comes in 5 delicious varieties, Cheddar, Pimento, Chile, Rarebit, Swiss, Roquefort, Camembert and Limburger. At all dealers in foodstuffs.

But there was in his bearing, in his carelessly assured manner, in his gaze a lurking hint of irresponsibility, perhaps mischief, which did not, however, impress her disagreeably.

On the contrary, she felt oddly at ease with him as though she had known him for some time.

Have you forgotten me for suffering at you so many years ago, he [illegible] she thought she had.

But his next words startled her a little, he said so simply, so naively, so [illegible] attractively.

I have a queer notion we were beginning in the middle of everything—at we've already grown each other long enough to waive [illegible] and begin our acquaintance as old friends.

He was saying just exactly what she had not put into words. He was still looking at her intently, [illegible] with the same slight, [illegible] whimsical smile which she now vividly remembered in the [illegible]

"Do you, by any chance, feel the same about our encounter?" he asked.

What way?"

"As we seem to have known each other for a long time."

Stephanie had not yet learned very much in the art of self-defence. A question to her mind meant either a truthful answer or silence. She remained silent.

"Do you, Miss Quest?" he persisted.

"Yes I do."

"As though" he insisted, "you and I are beginning in the middle of the book of friendship unless of bothering to cut the pages of the preface," he suggested gaily.

She laughed.

"You know" she warned him, "that I have not yet made up my mind about you."

"Concerning what are you in doubt?"

A Golden Look

"Concerning exactly how I ought to consider you."

"As a friend, please."

"Perhaps. Are we going to dance or talk?"

"So you are a crew man?"

"Who told you?"

"I've inquired about you" she admitted, [illegible] [illegible] [illegible]

Pass the Summer in Finest Health

Take a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin when tired, dull or constipated. Quick results!

WE cannot all spend the Summer in cool mountain resorts, and those who stay at home and swelter through the hot days will find it necessary to be extra cautious about their health. Hot foods are easier to digest than cold, and even hot soup, though it overheats for the moment, is grateful to the system.

Above all, keep the bowels open; that in itself cools the blood and calms the nerves. But when the bowels are sluggish and show signs of constipation take a teaspoonful of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin and you will get quick relief. Syrup Pepsin is a combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin which druggists have sold for a quarter of a century. It is the largest selling liquid laxative in the world.

Syrup Pepsin is the family doctor, the chief medicinal reliance of thousands of people in constipation and ills of the stomach, liver and bowels, in warding off colds, headaches, fevers and summer complaints. Mrs. R. B. Masters of 1424 Second Ave., Birmingham, Ala., has used it in her family for twelve summers, and she never misses an opportunity of telling her friends how healthy Syrup Pepsin has kept them. It has many uses these summer days.

FREE Millions of people of all ages suffer from occasional or chronic constipation. Let them send name and address to Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 512 Washington St., Monticello, Ill., for a free sample bottle of his wonderful Syrup Pepsin. 8 million bottles were bought at drug stores last year, the largest sale in the world.

Ruth Roland Tells How To Instantly Have a Beautiful Rosy-White Complexion

MISSRUTH ROLAND

New York—The beautiful young actress, Miss Ruth Roland, now successfully starring in that splendid serial, "The Adventures of Ruth," is famous for her beautiful complexion. When her friends inquired about it she said: "It's all due to a little preparation called dermiline which I use twice daily. The experience I have had prompts me to make my secret public. This wonderful dermiline instantly beautified my skin, and its continued use has made the result permanent." When Miss Edna Wilbur, the well-known beauty specialist, was interviewed with reference to Miss Roland's remarkable complexion, she stated: "Anyone can have a beautiful complexion when they know how. It's a very simple process. I use the same article in my work, and until you try it you have no idea of the marvelous results. The very first application will astonish you. Go to the toilet counter of any drug or department store and get a bottle of dermiline, then make the following test: Examine your skin critically before your mirror, note carefully appearance, then cleanse your skin with a good cold cream (Linola Cream I have found to be the best), then apply dermiline as directed. After you have made the first application look in your mirror again and note the surprising change. A peachlike color mounts the cheeks; a baby softness comes to the skin; it makes the skin rosy-white, velvety and radiantly beautiful. It is wonderful for a dark, sallow skin, shiny noses, freckles, tan, oily skin, coarse pores, pimples, blackheads, chapped, rough skin, ruddiness, wrinkles and many other facial blemishes. If you had short eyelashes or vague, you will want beautiful hands and arms. There is nothing like dermiline for this purpose. Dermiline method is absolutely harmless and will not promote nor stimulate a growth of hair. It is superior to face powder, as perspiration does not affect it, therefore it stays on better. Over five hundred thousand women have used it have had the same results as Miss Roland, and I am sure if you will give it a fair trial you will become just as enthusiastic as she is and always use it in preference to any other powder or beautifier."

NOTE—When asked about Dermiline, one of our leading druggists said: "It is truly a wonderful beautifier. Its sale is enormous. I have ever seen it sold that I do not consider it necessary for users to refund the money to anyone who is dissatisfied. The guarantee would not be worth while unless the product possessed unusual merit." It is sold in the city under an iron-clad money-back guarantee by all department stores and up-to-date druggists in Boston and vicinity.

Doctor Tells How to Strengthen Eyesight 50 Per Cent. in One Week's Time in Many Instances

A Free Prescription You Can Have Filled and Use at Home

Philadelphia, Pa. Do you wear glasses? Are you a victim of eye strain or other eye weaknesses? If so you will be glad to know that according to Dr. Lewis there is real hope for you. Many whose eyes were failing say they have had their eyes restored through the principle of this wonderful free prescription. One man says, after trying it, "I was almost blind; could not see to read at all. Now I can read everything without any glasses and my eyes do not water any more. At night they would pain dreadfully, but they feel fine all the time. It was like a miracle to me." A lady who used it says: "The atmosphere seemed hazy with or without glasses, but after using this prescription for fifteen days everything seems clear. I can even read fine print without glasses." It is believed that thousands who wear glasses can now discard them in a reasonable time and multitudes more will be able to strengthen their eyes so as to be spared the trouble and expense of ever getting glasses. Eye troubles of many descriptions may be wonderfully benefited by following the simple rules. Here is the prescription: Go to any active drug store and get a bottle of Bon-Opto tablets. Drop one Bon-Opto tablet in a fourth of a glass of water and allow to dissolve. Use the liquid to bathe the eyes two to four times daily. You should notice your eyes clear up perceptibly from the very first day, and inflammation, redness, irritation and sore lids should disappear. If your eyes are badly strained, weak, watery or inflamed, use Bon-Opto at once and see if it will not help them right from the start. Many hopelessly blind might have been saved if they had cared for their eyes in time.

NOTE: Another prominent physician to whom the above article was submitted, said: "Bon Opto is a very remarkable remedy. Its combined ingredients are well known to eminent eye specialists and are prescribed by them. The manufacturers guarantee it to strengthen eyesight 50 per cent in one week's time in many instances or refund the money. It can be obtained from any good druggist and is one of the very few preparations I feel should be kept on hand for regular use in almost every family." It is sold in Boston and vicinity by all the leading druggists.

Stocks Heavy in New York; Markets Dull; Call Money 8%

RUBBER ISSUES ARE WEAK

Steels, Oils, Rails and Equipments Irregular, While Motors Recede

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks had a heavy tone in New York at noon, and the majority of prominent issues were their showing losses. The market continued to lag all the morning. First and transactions totaled but 85,000 shares. Call loans renewed at 8 per cent. Foreign exchange quotations were a little lower.

Among stocks to recede the most were American International, Kelly Springfield, Goodrich, Johnson, Mexican Petroleum, Missouri Pacific and Stromberg. They were off a point or more at the end of the morning.

VERY DULL AND IRREGULAR.

The market had an apathetic opening, being very narrow and exceedingly quiet. The trend was irregular, but the majority of issues were off. As a rule price changes were small. Hassell & Barker and Atlantic Gulf advanced more than a point on first sales, while U. S. Rubber and Goodrich were off about a point. Other weak issues were Marine preferred, Houston Oil, St. Paul, Studebaker and Tobacco Products. It was about twenty minutes before there were any dealings in U. S. Steel common. It gained a fraction. Steels showed irregularity, while oils, rails, equipments and motors were mixed in movement. It is evident that the first hour of a session on this exchange is by no means a criterion. Yesterday was the most active as well as the strongest steel during the first hour, but generally none improved a little during that period, but the market remained lifeless.

WHEAT TRADING RESUMED.

Trading in wheat futures was resumed today in Chicago and some other markets after a discontinuance of three years, although the Lever act is still in force. December wheat opened at $2.72 to $2.75 on the Chicago Board of Trade, where a statement made by President Gates and Secretary Mauff of that body reads in part:

"The attempt to re-establish the open market is being made under conditions which cannot be normal. Transportation facilities are by no means ample. Crop conditions and world conditions of supply and demand are still uncertain. It is reasonable, therefore, to expect market fluctuations wider than normal conditions would be considered very wide, consequently no contracts should be made without very adequate protection.

"The market is being re-established for the benefit of producers, consumers and handlers of cash grain. Speculative trade will be discouraged only to the extent necessary to furnish a stabilizing influence."

Crops in the Northwest

The crop situation has improved in most parts of the Northwest. In no section has there been a more encouraging change than in the great Northwest. This has helped business in that region and is said to be active and in a sound condition. As to harvest prospects, the Northwestern National Bank Review says: "Viewed as a whole a survey of the Northwest shows genuine and widespread confidence of material well being. Crop prospects are good, which tells much of the story in this district. The country has the appearance of a vast market garden."

Best Sugar Prospects

Beet sugar production in this country will be larger this year, the palm over 1919 by 200,000 tons, approximately 900,000 pounds in the States of Utah, Montana, Idaho and Washington district. The crop of the entire beet sugar country is estimated at 3,471,000 bags against 2,657,921 bags last year.

Gray and Davis Strong and Active on Local Exchange; Curb Is Sluggish

There was little alteration to the Boston market when the local exchange began business. It was dull and irregular at the start and remained so during the forenoon. Commission house attendance was small and there was no interest shown except by a few of the abilities. As far as the list was generally concerned, losses outnumbered gains during the morning. Fluctuations were as small as the market was narrow. It has seldom been duller.

Hendee lost a point on its first sale and recovered on the second. Osceola was weak and Old Dominion firm, while simple copper Packing issues were steady. Gray & Davis was the only auto accessory issue to show life, and as usual the feature being strong as well as active. Other stocks often in evidence were Carson Hill and American Telephone.

At its morning highest Gray & Davis was up nearly a point. Among fractionally higher stocks were American Telephone, Island Creek, United Shoe Machinery, West End and Swift International.

Issues to recede a point were Calumet & Hecla, while smaller losses were sustained by Boston, Edison, Copper Range, Granby, Hill, Greenfield Tap and Amoskeag.

National Oil common was traded in for the first time and opened at 7¼.

CURB TONE WAS WEAK

While the Curb list was irregular that market had a weak tone at the start. It was as sluggish as the seniors. The most active issues at the opening were Tip Top, Eureka, Madonna and Imperial, which were up to advance were Crystal and Imperial in the recreational list and Tip, Boston & Montana, Daddy, Seven Metals and United Verde Extension.

READING POOL LOSES NERVE

Immediate Liquidation Unlikely; New York Market Closes Exceedingly Heavy

By BROADAN WALL.

New York, July 15.—Stocks were highly irregular yesterday, some of the active issues making new low prices for the movement. The most important feature of the present decline is that very little of the selling is for short account.

Even the professionals were convinced, about three weeks ago, that higher prices must come regardless of business developments. The traders, therefore, covered their short contracts and took on lines of long stocks. While the business is almost entirely professional just now, it is long stocks that is being sold.

A short interest is almost entirely lacking. If there is any short interest it is probably for the account of important operators, who are not known as professionals, since as bank directors and big captains of industry, who saw what was coming and liquidated some time ago.

More talk was heard of important business being at the jumping off place. The government will take about $22,000,000 from the banks this week on account of income taxes, with the collection of $150,000,000 taxes in July added to the ordinary treasury operations make the credit situation very difficult.

Stocks were heavy at the close and the purchases seemed to be in sight. The Reading pool that started so heavily last week seems to have lost its nerve. There is little likelihood of the Reading Company being forced to liquidate immediately.

The foreign situation is worrying the street a good deal. When the market closed it looked as if the Allies would have to occupy part of Germany in order to enforce the treaty provisions. The Polish situation is such that American concerns that have business relations with that country, as for instance the Baldwin locomotive, may be called on to take large losses.

GOLD PRODUCTION IS STEADILY DECREASING

Although the business requirements of the world call for a great increase in the production of gold, its currency value in the form of output has been steadily diminishing for several years. One reason for this is found in the greatly increased cost of mining. The world output in 1919 was between $345,000,000 and $355,000,000 as compared with $350,224,500 in 1918.

It is doubted if the output of this country for 1920 reaches $50,000,000. For 1919 the Geological Survey preliminary estimates are: United States, $58,285,196; Canada, $14,687,000; India, $10,628,000; Australia not including New Zealand or Islands), $29,246,000; Transvaal, $171,640,123; Rhodesia and West Africa, $18,631,870. There was probably a large decrease in Russia and Siberia in 1919.

WANT BANK CHARTER TO INCREASE BUILDING

When a hearing was granted on the petition by Albert S. Apsey and others for a charter for the Business Man's Co-operative Bank, it was stated that the institution would be an association to promote thrift and to build homes. Bank Commissioner Allen told speakers who made this plea that he believed they were on the right track with regard to relieving the housing situation.

Co-operative banks do much to further home building, but there are not enough of them. W. S. Pressey stated at the hearing that he knows of one such institution that turns away ten applicants a day.

Internal Revenue Receipts

Internal revenue collections in the Boston district during the fiscal year ended June 30 broke all records, totalling $350,928,233. For the preceding year the total was $246,230,146. Income tax payments amounted to $302,178,679. There was a big drop in the collections on distilled spirits and fermented liquor, receipts decreasing, as compared with the previous year, from $12,655,090 to $7,086,000.

Raw Sugar Received Here

Raw sugar received in Boston on Tuesday last amounted to 17,120,000 pounds. It came on two steamships from Cuban ports, with 7,268,400 pounds for the Revere Sugar Refining Co. and 8,752,600 pounds for the American Sugar Refining Co.

'DRY' AGENT IN HEARING ROW

Ayer Jitney Men Create Scene, After Raid, When Accused of Carrying Liquor

Ayer, July 15.—Approximately 120 gallons of liquor were seized by Prohibition Agent Ryan at the house of Willard F. Smith in Groton. A large wine press was also taken. Other places in the town where, it is asserted, large quantities of "sheep dip" is being manufactured and sold to soldiers, were visited. Several warrants are to be sworn out for violations of the prohibition laws.

Agent Ryan appeared before the Ayer Board of Selectmen and faced twenty-five jitney drivers, five of whom he accused of transporting liquor to Camp Devens and selling it to soldiers. His accusation caused a turmoil. Cries of "name them" caused a stir.

"I'm not here to take any man's job away," said Ryan. "You've been in Groton, haven't you?" he asked one man.

"Name the five jitney men," cried a driver.

Ryan declared he had the names of the men and would make them public at the proper time. He accused the five men of not obligating him and their prohibition

MEASURES THAT WOULD CURE MOST OF THE TROUBLES AND TENDENCIES WHICH DISTRESS AND ALARM US TODAY

(1) To nominate for the Presidency by direct nomination and to elect by popular vote.
(2) To elect the Cabinet officers and make them responsible to Congress.
(3) To deprive the President of the power of patronage; to put all public offices as nearly as possible under Civil Service, and have appointments made by a committee of Congress.
(4) To elect Federal Judges, including the Supreme Court Justices, by popular vote.
(5) To apply the Initiative, the Referendum and the Recall to national matters.

The People Should Nominate and Elect Presidents by Direct Vote

"It costs five millions to elect a President, and no money is better spent," wrote Horace Greeley many years ago, "for in that way once in four years the whole nation is made to discuss the same ideas. We thus become educated on public issues, and though we do not agree about them, we become a unified nation by arguing over our problems."

The cost of our Presidential elections has multiplied four or five times since Greeley's day. The money is still well spent if it is spent on discussion and education.

But the Senate Committee investigation of the recent primaries shows that money is not now spent in that way. It is spent as it was spent in the last two-million dollar campaign for Mayor of New York, by privileged special interests seeking more privileges.

When the Senate investigation of the Wood and Lowden, the Palmer and McAdoo campaign managers is finished we shall have a long list of definite acts which the Corrupt Practices Law of the future will expressly forbid. And the Hearst papers will have drawn, and will submit to the next Congress, a real Corrupt Practices Act.

The present campaign has hardly begun, but it has already given one lesson of incalculable moral importance. The candidates on both sides for whom millions of dollars were subscribed in advance of the conventions were all defeated. They were not defeated in spite of the expenditure of money. They were defeated because of it. In future when a small group of purse potentates—however patriotic or unselfish they may pretend to themselves to be—form a syndicate to promote the candidacy for high office of some willing beneficiary, they will undoubtedly recall, or be reminded of, the experience of the Mitchel promoters, or of the Wood and Lowden promoters, or the McAdoo and Palmer promoters—and they will not make the attempt.

Presidential primaries must in future be held in all States and by all parties on the same day. And money must be spent only for publicity, must be strictly limited, and must be rigidly accounted for.

Delegates to conventions when elected must vote as instructed in the primaries for a reasonable number of ballots, or suffer a definite penalty as well as moral disgrace.

The auctioning of uninstructed or the seduction of instructed delegates is a scandal that mocks representative government; and the rounding up of tired delegates by a coalition of bosses after manipulated deadlocks for the purpose of naming rubber stamp tickets, if not so offensive to morals, is equally undemocratic and unwholesome.

A nation-wide Presidential primary, with first, second and third choices plainly marked on a uniform ballot, and a rule of elimination whereby the low names should disappear until the candidate receiving the majority of first or other choice votes would emerge the victor, would end the scandals of manipulated conventions and locate the responsibility where it belongs—among the people.

Such a primary would cost a large sum for necessary expenses, but not so large a sum as is now spent by private interests on nominating Presidential candidates and afterward collected from the public. To be fair, this necessary expense of a genuine primary should be a public charge, not an invitation to a millionaire candidate to spend his own money with reckless extravagance, or to a faithful servitor of private corporations to be "promoted" by multi-millionaires.

One Way of Beating the High Cost of Living

We have all been trying to beat the high cost of living so long—and not doing it—that it has become a joke, one of the great American group along with mother-in-law, "the wife's" relatives, and "the morning after." So when we hear of someone who really accomplishes the thing, we are profoundly impressed.

Her husband is foreman of a railroad gang. He must travel with his men along the road and stop wherever the roadbed needs repairing for as long a time as the work takes. Then on to the next "break."

No fireside and slippers every night after the day's work is done—not even every Saturday night, or once a month. He must stay "on the job." So she brings the slippers and the baby and the chickens along and beats the game. No rent, no prying neighbors, no being "tied down" while hubby is away, for they live in a freight car which they have made into a house. Door in the centre, one large bedroom in one half, living room which is also the dining room, in the other, with a small kitchenette partitioned off at the end—with icebox, oil stove and all the conveniences—garbage pail by opening the door.

But this is not all. Beyond the kitchen and in times of rest connected by a small bridgelet is a flat car which serves as backyard, chicken yard and a place to dry the clothes. Of course, when there is a long stop, the chickens can be "on the loose."

We have all hankered to be Vincent Astor or the mayor of the town or brother of the head waiter, but when we read this, there is a glamour about a foreman of a railroad gang.

And, speaking of resourcefulness, note something that is being done in Detroit by way of solving the hotel problem.

The Northern Steamship Company is using its Noronic as a floating inn. It is moored at the Brush Street Pier, and has 600 persons living on it. Some time in the Summer it will go into regular service as a lake boat. Meanwhile it is doing a lot to relieve the hotel strain in Detroit.

Richard Spillane, in Commerce and Finance, calls attention to the shortage of hotels the nation over. This is magnified by the transformation in various cities of hotels into office structures. In New York four hotels, the Knickerbocker, the Manhattan, the Earlington and the Spingler, are being made into office buildings. Few hotels are being built. The cost of construction is prohibitive.

It would seem, however, that anyone with a river, lake or coastwise steamboat might pick up some money by transforming it into a hotel when the Summer season ends. A vessel with plenty of staterooms has an opportunity opening for next Winter. Good heating arrangements will make the boat snug.

More Truth Than Poetry

In Spite of the Ills and the Bills

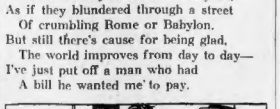
By S. E. KISER

THE world looks pretty good to me,
Although my store of coin is small;
I know, while claiming to be free,
That freedom's not for me at all.
But even if I must obey
All kinds of rules that others make,
I find it good to earn my pay
And keep my sympathies awake.

I HEAR complaints from men who think
That nothing's right, that all is wrong,
But roses still sometimes are pink,
And now and then I hear a song.
I still am cheered by loveliness,
And children's laughter makes me glad;
The world is troubled, more or less,
But, after all, it's not so bad.

ACROSS wide meadows there are blown
Sweet fragrances that bring me joy;
The smell of hay but lately mown
Reminds me of a dreamy boy
Who once built castles in the air
And saw their distant turrets gleam—
The weather still sometimes is fair,
And still I find it good to dream.

GREED urges men to scheme and cheat,
And wealthy fools rush madly on,
As if they blundered through a street
Of crumbling Rome or Babylon.
But still there's cause for being glad,
The world improves from day to day—
I've just put off a man who had
A bill he wanted me to pay.



Bubonic Plague Threatens U.S.

AMERICA is threatened with an invasion by the dread bubonic plague. The disease, appearing in Constantinople a year ago, has swept through Asia, and finally has made its appearance in New Orleans, Galveston and Pensacola, according to official reports.

The only protection against the plague, which has taken millions of lives in the past hundred years, is a ruthless warfare against rats, fleas, mice and other vermin. To this list science has added the vulture, long harbored as a useful scavenger, and actually protected by law in many Southern States.

Dr. W. H. Ballou, writing in the Magazine Section of the Boston Sunday Advertiser, describes the means by which this terrible devastation is being spread in the United States, and the ways in which it may be combatted. Read his article Sunday.

At last we know why Gaby Deslys, the late French actress, left all her enormous fortune in coins to the poor. Recent revelations show that this act, seemingly inconsistent with her mode of life, was in reality the normal working out of her personal philosophy. One of her intimate friends tells the story in Sunday's Boston Sunday Advertiser.

Sergeant Walters, a member of Pershing's staff overseas, married recently. His wedding came as the culmination of a romance of five years' standing, interspersed with buffettings of fate which make interesting reading. Everything seemed to be against Cupid and the young lovers—but finally they won. The story appears in the Boston Sunday Advertiser's Magazine Section.

The third instalment of the Hope Diamond Mystery continues the strange tale of the Eastern jewel which has brought misfortune, suffering and poverty to scores of persons who have owned, touched or worn it. Mary Yohe, formerly Lady Francis Hope, writes this story from her own bitter experience.

Ye TOWNE GOSSIP

Registered U. S. Patent Office.

By K. C. B.

Dear Ken.—You didn't give any kid party last Winter, did you? Anyway, you didn't ask me for any jack, and you know that twenty-five dollars is always set aside for your adopted children. Here it is now. I hope the kids don't get sunburned. Thine,

A. S. R.

ARTHUR SOMERS Roche.
DARIEN, CONN.
MY DEAR Arthur.
I'VE SENT your check.
ALONG WITH others.
TO THE Big Brothers.
AND I hope it's good.
BECAUSE I indorsed it.
AND, ANYWAY.
IT WILL send two kids.
AND A half a kid.
OUT INTO the country.
FOR A full two weeks.
AND THE half a kid.
WILL BE the other half.
OF THE half a kid.
THAT SOMEBODY else.
SENT FIVE dollars for.
AND I'M much obliged.
AND I want to ask you
IF YOU'RE working this Summer.
AND WRITING stories.
WITH MURDERS in them.
FOR THE magazines.
IN SERIAL form.
WON'T YOU try to write them.

SO THAT all the excitement.
WON'T COME at the end.
OF EACH instalment.
AND BALL things up.
SO THAT no one can tell.
HOW IT'S going to come out.
AND I wouldn't care.
EXCEPT THAT my wife.
GETS ALL excited.
AND LOTS of times.
IN THE still of night.
I'LL HEAR her voice.
AND I'LL wake up.
AND SHE'LL say to me.
"I KNOW who did it!
"IT WAS so-and-so!"
AND SHE'LL try to prove.
THAT SO-AND-SO.
WAS THE murderer.
AND I'LL tell you more.
WHEN I come to Darien.
I'VE FOUND it on the map.
AND IT'S only an inch.
FROM WHERE I'm going to be.
IN A couple of days.

I THANK you.

Boyne Water

And Some Other Things

Copyright, 1920, Star Company.

Monday was celebrated the battle of Boyne Water. Englishmen in and out of Ireland say that July 12 and the victory of 1690 that it celebrates proves that the English can beat the Irish.

The Irish reply, truly, that at Boyne Water the Englishmen were commanded by a Hollander, William of Orange (hence the name "Orangeman"), whereas the Irish were commanded by an English King, and incidentally that King was running away as fast as his horse could carry him, while the Irish were still fighting, which is what you might call poor leadership.

Ever since the Boyne Water battle, the Irish have said, "Change kings and fight it over again." The Sinn Fein, without a king, is trying to do it.

Messrs. Grabsky and Pilsudski, Polish patriots, admit the attack on Bolshevist Russia is a failure. The allies that were going to wipe Russia off the map now request an armistice.

Premier Grabsky says Russsia is fighting Poland with the weapons the allies supplied to Denikine and other reactionaries. Poland in seizing temporarily thousands of square miles of Russian territory, says Grabsky, was not imperialistic, only trying to build up a buffer to protect Europe from Bolshevist Russia. Western Europe may need such a buffer, since Germany is to be disarmed, her army demobilized and conscription forbidden. The Germans, necessarily, not having armed men, weapons or money, would say to invading Russia, "Don't get excited; here are our highways, here are our railroads, pass along quietly on your western trip."

The allies and Poles, instead of despising Russia, should have remembered that a nation, having obtained freedom, misguided or not, is apt to be dangerous for the next few years. After the French Revolution, lawyers in black coats and stovepipe hats beat and terrorized practically all Europe—that lesson should not have been so soon forgotten.

Justice Rodenbeck issues a permanent injunction forbidding the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America to organize the plants of Michaels, Stern & Co., of Rochester.

The judge also rules that the union workmen are liable for damages. The workers in trying to unionize plants used "what is equivalent to force," says the judge. He explained that "intimidation may consist in numbers alone, without any actual violence." This undoubtedly expresses the law as this particular judge understands it. If, however, NUMBERS ALONE may constitute violence and crime, may not some learned judge eventually enjoin "government by the majority," and is not the entire system of government in this country criminal, since it represents "numbers"?

If workmen are told, the United States notwithstanding, that they must not seek to persuade fellow workers to join them because their mere numbers may "amount to intimidation," what are the workers to do?

The simplest thing, perhaps, would be to put on the statute books a law providing for THE RECALL OF JUDGES. This would solve some problems and it might enlighten some judges—nothing like uncertainty to make you think carefully.

The story of the indignities and cruelties inflicted on the Kaiser's brother, Prince Henry, make unpleasant reading. Buffeted and kicked, he was forced to run the gauntlet by a mob led by a private soldier, then locked in prison, deprived of sleep. Human nature that submits and cheers for autocracy when it is in power, and then tortures what it has cheered, isn't pleasant. But the treatment of Prince Henry seems to indicate that Germany has had about enough of the Hohenzollern family, which is an excellent thing for Germany.

Governor Cox says that, if and when he is President, he will choose for Secretary of Agriculture "a real dirt farmer, a man who has worked with the plow, worked in the dirt, knows the soil, and has turned it into gold."

That sounds better than it is. A man can work intelligently for his fellow citizens without actually being a worker in soil or finance.

Lincoln did well in the war, although he was no soldier. The man who invented the sewing machine probably had never sewed a stitch. But he did a good deal for sewing women.

The farmer wants for Secretary of Agriculture, not necessarily a man that has followed the plow, pulled turnips or weaned calves, but a man who understands what the farmers do for the country, what problems they have to meet.

If farmers and workers voted independently, instead of in parties, labelled Republican and Democrat, and if voters had THE RECALL, the right to discharge unsatisfactory public servants, they would have the Government that they want, without necessarily having a farmer for Secretary of Agriculture, an Indian for the Indian Bureau, a sailor for the Navy, a soldier for the Army or a letter carrier for Postmaster-General.

STARS AND STRIPES

Merit, of course, deserves to win; but its chances are much improved by expert publicity.
